

Town meeting buys land, rejects condos, motel

by Arlene Surprenant

Old Man Winter may have delivered the last punch weatherwise Monday, but Wilmington voters delivered a punch of their own in the form of an overwhelming ultimatum against proposals for condominiums and a hotel - motel complex at a special town meeting Tuesday night.

In votes of 174 to 498 and 99 to 526 respectively, voters defeated proposals to build the town's first condominiums (Article Three) and its first motel - hotel (Article Six). The warrant articles came up in random order. The other six articles were approved, except for Article Four which was passed over.

Most of the action took place not Monday in the high school auditorium, as scheduled, but Tuesday night in the high school gym due to an overflow crowd Monday night of 810. With residents lining the walls and blocking the exits in the 502-seat auditorium, Monday night, Fire Chief Daniel Wandell had no choice but to call the situation "a potential hazard to public safety" and cut short the meeting at 8:40 p.m.

With a standing room only crowd Monday night, Moderator Michael Cairra had his hands full not only leading residents through Article Seven and part way into Article Three, but also attempting to resolve the obvious dilemma of how to conduct a meeting under the difficult circumstances. Despite repeated attempts by Cairra to adjourn the meeting to another time and place, many residents were vocally opposed to prolonging events.

"Let's get on with it," shouted an impatient citizen, seeming to speak for all.

And get on with it they did, but not until 7:15 Tuesday night when Article Three, a proposal to rezone 63.5 acres of land off Broad Street to PRD status to pave the way for a 94 unit townhouse style condominium project, once more came under discussion.

There is a need for this type of housing because of the high cost of homes today, explained Attorney Joseph Courtney in presenting the article for owner Joseph Langone. Anyone purchasing one of these units would pay 25 per cent less than they would for a single family home, he said.

He went on to explain that only eight acres of the site would be disturbed with the remaining 55.5 acres being open space. The only alternative to this proposal, a conventional subdivision of 45 homes, would have a more negative impact on the area in terms of traffic, cost to the town and wetland disturbance, he said.

As for the fear that Wilmington may be "overrun" by condos, Courtney said, that was "an impossibility."

Bill MacLeod of Andover Consultants, Inc., the firm which prepared the site plan, addressed abutters concerns and benefits derived from such a development.

One benefit not fully explored in previous hearings was the fact that this plan would extend the sewer line to Broad Street for future use by residents in that area. He also explained that traffic would be "one half per unit" of what you'd have with single family homes.

Voters were not convinced. Dan Gillis expressed the view of many when he stated "I like Wilmington as a single family house town."

One resident asked if voters wanted "a glorified apartment complex" usually found in cities, or a town with single family homes.

"Some people say these things are the slums of the future," he said, a remark which several people took exception to.

Other concerns brought up once again were the negative impact of the units on traffic, child safety and water and drainage problems.

Though the finance committee recommended disapproval, the majority of planning board members felt this plan was consistent with land use for PRD zoning. Voters obviously did not, as they shot down the article.

Developer Paul Butt, through Article Six, sought to rezone approximately ten acres of land abutting Routes 93 and 62 to Industrial Park use to allow for a "uniquely designed Howard Johnson's motor lodge." This proposal, explained Attorney Bill Gustus in presenting the article, was amended from the original 21.62 acres as a concession to neighbors. The remaining 11.5 acres would be deeded to the town as a buffer zone for the 12 immediate abutters, he said.

The motel would be a quality, townhouse style inn consistent with the physical appearance of homes in that area. It would include a courtyard, enclosed swimming pool, and a 100 seat capacity restaurant. All of this would be situated on only five acres, said Gustus, with the remaining five acres housing an on-site treatment plan.

Once again, voters were unimpressed. The thinking seemed to follow the view of one resident who called out "let's keep it residential and stay out of everybody's yard."

Ed Whitney of Salem Street said he was afraid of the "domino type action" on one or two nearby parcels of land in the future. "That area is a very picturesque setting," he added, and shouldn't be changed.

Resident Fred King took his own survey and found ten hotels with a ten mile radius of the Route 62 - 93 interchange and said "that's enough."

State Representative James Miceli pointed out that residents bought homes in that area thinking it would stay residential and are now "confronted with something traumatic." Gillis agreed, asking "What's the sense of zoning if you're going to change it every year."

Other questions addressed were the increase in traffic problems in that neighborhood and the impact of the on-site treatment plan.

Though Gustus made a last ditch effort to save the article by pointing out the need for "balancing interests" in the town, the article was still defeated.

Two articles were passed unanimously with nary a hint of discord or discussion. They were Article One, to transfer $500,000 from the Free Cash account to the Blue Cross Blue Shield account to cover a shortfall in the Blue Cross account and Article Seven, voted Monday night, to rezone a parcel of land near Silver Lake, owned by Baizen Building Corp., to Residence 60.

Voters Tuesday night questioned the $100,000 price tag put on the controversial Baizen-owned land that selectmen wished to purchase or take-by eminent domain in Article Eight.

According to Town Assessor Anthony Krzeminski, $100,000 is a "very good price" to pay on the town's side.

Selectman Rocco DePasquale explained that Baizen originally sought $200,000 for his property, even though he only bought it for $50,000. The $100,000 negotiated figure represents not only the

Overflow crowd

The purest form of democracy, a town meeting, had the Barrows Auditorium at its fullest, on Monday evening. Moderator Michael Cairra was faced with an overflow crowd of 810 persons in an auditorium which seats 502. The special town meeting was forced to adjourn to Tuesday night in the gymnasium after Fire Chief Daniel Wandell ruled that the crowded aisles and exits constituted a hazard.

School Committee seeks payment of legal costs

by Arlene Surprenant

School Committee members unanimously agreed last Wednesday to seek $20,185 from the town of Wilmington. This sum would pay the cost of extra legal and attorney fees incurred during their recently won litigation suit (McMenimen versus Peters).

The litigation arose from the refusal of Town Accountant Dorothy Peters to allow payment for computers bought by the School Department. Mrs. Peters felt that the schools were spending FY-1983 money for 1984 expenses, since the purchases were made at the end of the school year. The School Committee sued for the release of the money, and won.

Because town counsel was defending the town accountant, the School Committee hired an attorney. It is that bill they are seeking to have the town pay.

Mega-winner was one of many

A Wilmington man won the Megabucks game this week, but will have share to share the pot with eight other winners. Phillip R. Hurrell of Allston Avenue won $688,513 by correctly guessing the six numbers drawn Saturday night. The win will provide him with an after-tax income of $25,819 for 20 years.

Another money item up for discussion at that meeting was the need for an extra $40,000, exclusive of administrative salaries, to go toward preparing the Swain School or other buildings for extra space during the renovation. The money would go toward upgrading science labs, leasing equipment and portable classrooms, extra bus costs, extra cafeteria tables and chairs if they decide to keep the present eighth grade classes at their respective intermediate schools, and possibly supporting the floors at the Swain.

Members discussed the possibility of making this request a warrant article for the annual town meeting, something separate from the school budget. The motion was tabled until a later date.

Also tabled were final decisions on the proposed graduation requirements for high school students, which will come up for further discussion at their March 20 meeting, and space options for students during the renovation period, to be brought before the committee at its April 3 meeting.

In other business, former math department chairman Jim Babcock was named to that position once more, replacing Benjamin Levy. School Superintendent Dr. Carol Sager announced a present kindergarten enrollment of 171 children for next September though the projected figure is well over 200 youngsters.

And finally, as a result of an inventory initiated by Bob Peterson of all audio - visual equipment in the Wilmington school system, it was discovered that 50 percent of that equipment is in fair or poor condition, requiring a "major buying program" to bring it up to standard.

Three held at gunpoint during Tewksbury holdup

Tewksbury Police are searching for two men who held three people at gunpoint during a hold-up at the Route 133 Liquor Store on Andover Road Thursday, March 14. The hold-up was in progress while a police cruiser was making a routine swing around the building, police say.

According to Inspector Paul Ringwood, a 20-year-old male clerk at the store was pistol whipped by one of the armed bandits during the 10:35 p.m. hold-up. He was taken to St. John's Hospital where he required three to four stitches in the back of his head.

Ringwood also says a 23-year-old female clerk was told by the other armed bandit that her life would be in danger if she tried to alert the cruiser that a hold-up was in progress. The female clerk and a male patron in the store at the time of the hold-up were unhurt.

The bandits left the store, Ringwood says, with about $3000 in cash. The cash represents the store's lottery sales receipts, a few days regular sales receipts and a small amount of petty cash.

The bandits also took $32 off the male patron, $6 from the male clerk and several pieces of expensive jewelry including a diamond ring, gold chain and watch from the female clerk.

Police believe the pair fled the scene in a car down River Road in the direction of either Andover or Lawrence.

According to reports given to police, the pair entered the store shortly before closing time and browsed around until a few patrons had left. One of the men then pulled out a shotgun and approached the female clerk at the front of the store. The other man produced a semi-automatic type pistol and went to a back room where the male clerk was.

The bandit in the back room ripped the phone wires from the wall and proceeded to seek cash. Ringwood says the male clerk was struck twice on the head with the pistol when he tried to look at the bandit.

While the hold-up was in progress a male patron entered the store and was also held at gunpoint. Minutes later a police cruiser manned by Officer William Layne, who usually makes a routine check of the area establishments at closing time, circled the building, but could not see anything suspicious. "There was no way he could've seen into the store unless they were lined up against the door," said Ringwood.

Layne then proceeded up Andover Road to make a routine check on the Brooks Drug Store.

Shortly after Layne drove away, the bandits came out of the store and apparently started walking across the street to the Trull Brook Mobil gas station where they had apparently parked their car.

It was then that a person using a nearby automatic bank teller machine saw the coat of one of the men fly open in the wind exposing a shotgun. The witness went up to Layne and reported the incident. But, by that time the bandits had apparently jumped into their car and fled the scene.

Police followed the believed get-away route, but could not locate any suspects.

The case is still under investigation, police say.

play

Several Wilmington youngsters are involved in a play to be presented in Andover this weekend. Cheryl Hartford plays the fair Josephine, who is kidnapped in the Treble Chorus of New England's upcoming production of "Pan of Penzance." Leonina and Erminio Grasso, also of Wilmington, portray local officials who will try to protect her. Joining these talented young singers, will be Margaret Nokes, Tricia Hill who plays Peter Pan and Rebecca Gleason. "Pan of Penzance" will be performed at Pike School in Andover, Saturday, March 23 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, March 24 at 3 p.m. Student prices for the matinee only. Tickets can be obtained by calling 682-3571.

Tewksbury selectmen, acting as the board of public works, last Thursday almost ended up approving plans for two sewer line extensions in the same area. The proposed sewer lines were to go down Main Street toward Livingston Street.

Engineer Steve Stapinski of Merrimack Engineering Services brought in plans for the proposed sewer extensions for the Carter Green I and Carter Green II condominium projects located on either side of Victor Drive. The plans were for the sewer to join Main Street at about the place where the entrance for the Carter greenhouses used to be and go southerly toward the main trunk line at Tew-Mac Airport. Allowance was made in that plan for a connection to Tanglewood Avenue.

The plans were accepted by the selectmen with remarks that the sewer would go as far as the Burger King, and that the state would be ready for the sewer next year.

Later, selectmen were discussing a future Main Street

Tewksbury sewer nearly approved sewer extension with engineers from the town's sewer consulting firm of Camp Dresser & McKee (CDM). CDM's plans for a Main Street sewer extension are to be submitted to the state by July 1.

CDM Engineer Bill Mackey told selectmen that the plans would eliminate the need for a projected pumping station off Hinckley Road. The proposed gravity fed sewer would go along the Heath Brook ending up down near the rear of the shopping center.

With this plan, he said, it would be possible to have a sewer to Colonial Drive, and such streets as Rocky Avenue. Although no one mentioned it, he was in effect describing a proposed sewer extension plan discussed a year or so ago by former Public Works Supt. Phil Pattison.

It was Bill Hallisey who noted that a duplication in planning seemed to be the story. There would be, he observed, two sewers on Main Street. Does the town, he asked, have the right to tie into the sewer which Carter Green developers are proposing, he asked.

Hallisey was of the belief that the sewer would be "signed off" to the town. Bill Mackey said his firm was designing a sewer as though the other one did not exist.

"We have to get solutions" said Hallisey. "We could have two sewers headed in the same direction."

The selectmen voted that a meeting must take place in the next few weeks with the engineers of Carter Green I and Carter Green II, in which the sewer plans must be discussed.

25 years ago

The March 17, 1960 issue of the Town Crier noted:

The tax rate would possibly go up $2 to a total of $66.

Three men were added to both the police and fire departments in what was termed "the most peculiar town meeting in years."

Nick DeFelice of Commonwealth Avenue, Wilmington was elected chairman of the board of selectmen.

Selectmen reappointed Philip Buzzell to the position of town counsel; Bob Peters was made town accountant and Olive Sheldon was re-named clerk of the Board of Selectmen.

Frank Hagerty, having moved to Connecticut, resigned from the board of selectmen.

Louis Gardner of Main Street was top winner in a math exam held at Wilmington High School sponsored by the Math Club and Society of Actuaries.

Elia's Country Store was advertising Brae Burn Ice Cream for 69 cents a half gallon; fish sticks for 25 cents a package and corned beef brisket for 39 cents a pound.

McDevitt's Nursing Home on Chestnut Street with Mrs. Louise Wallent, R.N., was offering pleasant surroundings, semi-private rooms and reasonable prices.

The firm of Voltz and Kimberly, architects had been looking into the reasons for the high light costs at the Glen Road School. The firm noted that the problem was either an undetected short circuit, incorrect reading or high costs for hot water. Voltz and Kimberly told town officials that the three cents per KWH charged by Reading Light was one of the lowest electric fees in its experience in this part of Massachusetts.

A public hearing was scheduled for April 7 on the request of Paul Godzyk of Parker Street to erect a repair garage at the corner of Lowell and Young streets.

Stevens Market was advertising hamburger at two pounds for 89 cents; haddock fillet for 39 cents a pound and tuna fish at five cans for $1.00.

County Real Estate offered a six room house with a barn on one and a quarter acres of land for $13,900.

William Hooper wrote an open letter to Don Kidder, complimenting the selectman on what was termed his "best piece of fence setting to date." Mr. Hooper claimed that Mr. Kidder's masterful handling of Article 29 in the town meeting still not determining whether there was or was not a need for urban renewal.

This Joy of Spring

A gentle breeze, a hint of green, willows golden as spring is seen.
Quiet walks, sharing thoughts
in rays of light pure delight
A mirrored lake, mountain streams, could it be just a dream?
And all about her creatures sing giving life this joy of spring

Crocuses brave the snow on the last day of winter.

Rites of Spring

My crocuses are peeking through the last remnants of snow, signaling the arrival of yet another spring.

Catalogue advertisements beckon the wary customer. Swing sets, Easter bonnets, fishing gear, pool supplies and lawn furniture, vegetable seeds, asparagus and chocolate bunnies all conspire to filch our hard earned dollars.

The annual spring clean-up season is upon us. Cars and garages are treated to a new, clean look. Not so the house, which looms too large to attempt right now. We tackle the windows and closets and let the rest wait for another day.

Students exchange wool coats for lightweight bike jackets and soft cotton pastels. We older folk weigh last year's bathing suit against those extra pounds and find something remiss.

Nature's colors become more intense, more vibrant to match the vibrancy in our steps as we throw off the lethargic effect of yet another winter indoors.

My teenagers are already sifting through spring clothes long since outgrown. My youngest, not to be left out, crawls through the attic seeking last year's Easter basket and the rabbit train centerpiece slated to once again adorn our dining room table.

Daylight stays around for longer periods of time, bestowing a kind of benediction on a world caught up in the rush and confusion of everyday living. Light rays peer through my sunroom windows, warming a profusion of ivy, cactus, jade, and spider plants which have managed to survive winter's frost.

Shouts of Little League coaches, parents dutifully rooting offspring around the bases, the crack of bat against ball replace basketball and football crowds cheering on favorite teams and marching bands performing in resplendent half-time shows.

Vacation is the panacea for many. Families pour over pamphlets and travel sections seeking to reach some sort of agreement on this year's vacation trip. Will it be a hideaway in Maine, a cabin in New Hampshire's White Mountains, a beach front resort on the Cape? Or will it be side trips to Boston's fine museums or Rockport's quaint but crowded shops?

Garage sale signs pop up all over and dairy barns once again offer every imaginable flavor of ice cream, a sure sign that New England's warmer season has arrived.

Walkers, sunbathers, hand-holders, bikers, joggers all bask in the same warm sun that smiles on a renewed world.

For the world is new. Once again, spring has brought a rebirth, a chance to start over, a time of new beginnings for man and nature alike.

— Arlene Surprenant

No one ever forgot the 1904 Gil Harnden fire

The year was 1904. Wilmington had achieved the status of having a volunteer fire department - two companies, one in Wilmington and the other in North Wilmington. It was a condition that had not been achieved without hard work and heartaches. Two new fire houses had been erected, to house the two companies, and each house had a hose wagon and a pumper - horse drawn, of course.

In the past half dozen years the lesson had been clear - several disastrous fires in the area that is today called Wilmington Square. The railroad station had burned down half a dozen years ago - it stood where the transformers stand today, for Reading Electric Light. There had been the fires that burned down Schamiel MacIntosh's blacksmith shop, the drug store, and Ames Hall, all in Wilmington Square.

Two men were prominent in the start of the new fire department, Charlie Osburn and Caleb Harriman. Charlie was a mailman, rural free delivery. He had a square covered wagon with holes in front for the reins, and a sliding door at the side through which he delivered the mail. Harriman, of course, was the man in charge of the tannery - a tannery which was soon to be known by his name. He was a graduate pharmacist and the step-son of Franklin Perry, one of the two men who had been founders of the tannery in North Wilmington.

When the two men got a volunteer fire department going Osburn became chief and Harriman the assistant chief and their status was recognized as such by the selectmen. They were men of action. Even before the town voted to have the two fire houses, they were built, this while a committee was investigating sites, one near the center of town and the other in North Wilmington.

Near Wilmington Center a fire house was built on what is now

Olson Road, the parking space beside the present fire station. In North Wilmington it was built on land owned by Franklin Perry and was opposite the lilac bushes which grow behind the building owned by Lindsay Bouvier.

In the March 1904 town meeting, the committee recommended that the two fire houses be moved to the nearest school property - the Walker School site and the Whitefield School site. The recommendation was turned down and a committee appointed to investigate and report. On that committee were Harriman and Osburn and Howard Horton, a carpenter with good a good common sense reputation.

As could be expected, the committee recommended that the fire houses be located where they were built and in a special town meeting on April 28, the town bought the land; $50 for the North Wilmington site and $100 for the larger site near Wilmington Square.

The two companies were in business. There were 25 men in each. The Wilmington Company (No. 1) was commanded by Carl Cady and the North Wilmington one by Joseph Hill.

There was, naturally, some friendly rivalry. Both companies strove to have the best looking fire house, the best kept apparatus etc. Both naturally wanted to be the first to arrive at any fire.

The North Wilmington company (No. 2) was composed in a large part by men who worked in Harriman's Tannery - and this meant the North Wilmington Frenchmen, for so they were called - people who had come down from Nova Scotia. There were others too - Len Smith and Charlie Hill, Harris Haley and Ed Wells, to name a few. Caleb Harriman tried to be fair and square with both companies, but he couldn't be blamed for having a paternalistic attitude toward the North Wilmington men - after all most of them were his employees.

There were socials to raise money. There were whist parties. The North Wilmington men outfitted themselves with uniforms, blue coats and caps and white pants. Once a year they went on a trip - once to the Quincy House in Boston for a dinner, and on another occasion to Hamilton for a clam bake.

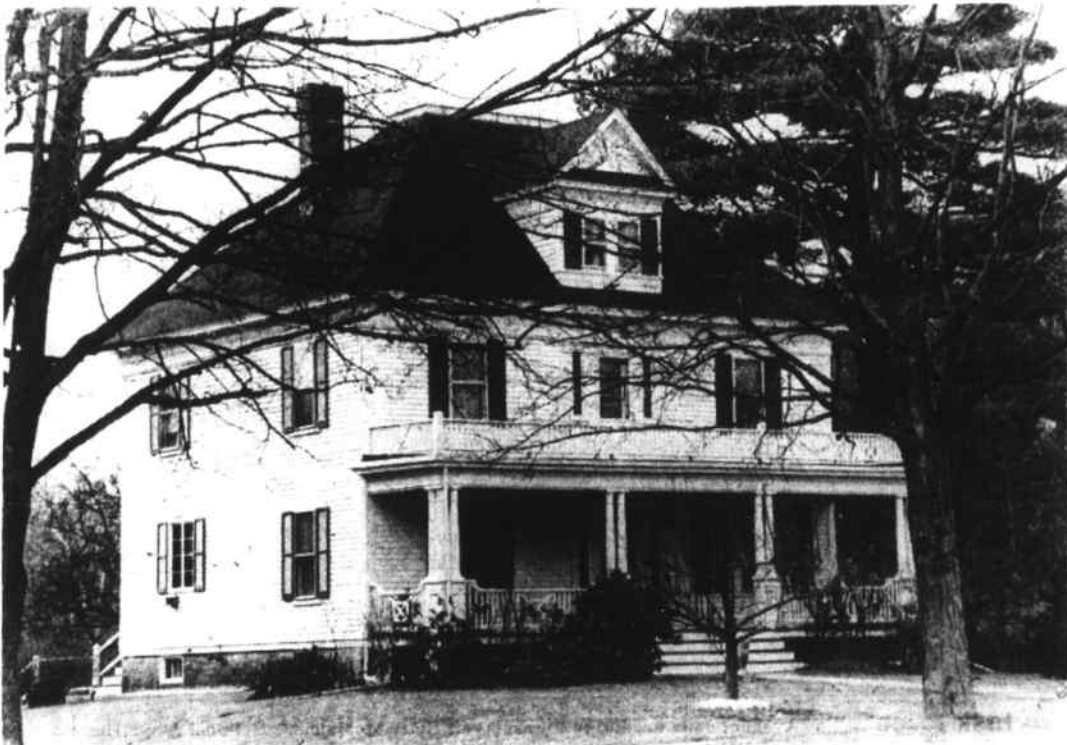

And whenever there was a fire, the boys would get onto the wagons, using borrowed horses and gallop off. They would be paid of course for their fire fighting and whoever owned the horses would be paid too. It seems that the rate of pay was 30 cents an hour, but possibly the 30 cents which is the lowest figure shown on payrolls, was for responding to a fire.

Anyway, on a Sunday morning in November there was a fire at the home of Gil Harnden in North Wilmington. Gil had a Wilmington name - Richard Harnden had settled at what is now 67 High Street back in 1667, but Gil was an Andover man. He had moved to Wilmington some 20 years previously and built a nice home on Middlesex Avenue, opposite High Street, today the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wallent.

Gil worked in Lawrence. Every morning he would walk down to the depot and take the train and every evening he would return by the same route.

On this particular Sunday morning Gil and Mrs. Harnden were in church. Across the street, in the home of Selectman Herb Buck, a young fellow named Rodney looked out the window and saw smoke and flames. The alarm was blown and there was an immediate response from the North Wilmington Company.

There was, if the reader will reflect, a difference of religion involved. All those North Wilmington Frenchmen had been to St Thomas Church for early morning mass and were now free for the day. They had shifted out of their Sunday, go-to-meeting clothes and some were hanging around the fire station when the alarm blew. They let out a whoop and a holler and hurried off to Gil Harnden's house.

For Company No. One the situation was different. Most of the members attended either the Congregational Church or the Methodist Church, and were attending services when the alarm blew.

This posed distinct questions that every man had to answer for himself. First, did he get up and walk out of church because of a fire alarm? Second, if he did walk out of church, did he go home and change his clothes, or did he go to the fire in his Sunday go-to-meeting clothes?

These were hard questions and the result was that Company No. One did not report at the scene until nearly an hour after the alarm. Those Frenchmen who had arrived at the scene with a whoop and a holler now greeted the newcomers with just as much noise, but of a different nature. No one ever forgot the derisive noises that were directed at Company One by the men of Company Two for being nearly an hour late.

The fire was going strong when Company Two arrived. It had started in the kitchen and swept up through the back stairs to the attic. When Company Two arrived it was breaking out through the roof. Harry Cutter, who lived up near Brown's Crossing, and was 17 years old ran to the scene about a mile. He saw the fire coming through the roof in eight places when he arrived.

Al Thompson, who was the lieutenant of the Company, Johnny Surrette and George Hill grabbed fire hoses and went into the house to fight that fire from the inside - a foolish thing to do, but it was effective. They carried the hose to the roof and in the process inhaled enough smoke so that they couldn't speak for three days.

Finally, the fire was out. It was the most expensive fire of the year with damages set at $1500 for the house and $300 for the contents. The payroll for Company Two, horses and men was $30.60 and for Company One, $22.75.

But even if the fire was out, the controversy was still to be settled, for controversy there was.

It was all done very quietly, in conferences between the board of selectmen and the fire chiefs.

Why had those three men been permitted to enter the building? That was the question.

What Mr. Osburn and Mr. Harriman told the selectmen probably will never be known. Perhaps they had not arrived at the scene of the fire when the three men went in. There is no record of their ever having commented on it.

Both Osburn and Harriman resigned as chief and assistant chief. Then the selectmen appointed Harriman the chief. This seems to point the finger at Osburn.

But maybe he just didn't want to be a fire chief any more and wouldn't accept the appointment.

No one knows, but the men in Company Two, much as they liked Caleb Harriman, felt through the years that Charlie Osburn hadn't really gotten a square deal.

Donovan to speak on revitalizing town center

A proposal for revitalization of the town center will be the topic of the March 26 breakfast meeting of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce.

Jay J. Donovan, chairman of the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority will be guest speaker at the meeting scheduled to begin at 7:30 a.m. at Stelio's Restaurant on Lowell Street.

Donovan plans to focus on the changing role of the Redevelopment Authority from the development of the Jewel Industrial Park off Eames Street, now nearing completion, to the revitalization of the town center. In an attempt to be helpful to the town in securing state and federal grants and to utilize the powers granted under Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 121B, the Redevelopment Authority will present an article at the Annual Town Meeting on April 27, 1985. Donovan will summarize the WRA's past and future attempts to increase the tax base, create jobs and improve the quality of life in Wilmington.

Reservations for members and guests can be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office (657-7211) by Friday, March 22.

Bob Lobel to speak at 'Drugbusters' program

WBZ-TV sportscaster Bob Lobel will be on hand for the special elementary school Drugbuster program slated for Monday, March 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

In a rare appearance, Lobel will be available to talk to parents and children, along with the Performer's Ensemble, which will put on a series of skits designed to open the lines of communication in the home.

Wilmington is one of 12 Massachusetts communities chosen to pilot this unique drug prevention program.

With Wilmington's cable tv franchise contract in its final two years, a task force has begun a study of cable service. The committee will study options and make recommendations to the selectmen, who will vote the contract. The present holder of the franchise is Greater Boston Cable Corp. of Woburn. The committee, from left: Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski; Bill Finn, a teacher in the West Intermediate School; Joseph Castronovo, Corey Avenue; John Creeth, 10 Biggar Ave.; Betty McMahon, 8 Belmont Ave.; Theresa Mercier, 47 Andover St.; Patrick Hoffman, 2 Fletcher La.; Bernard McMahon, Floradale Ave.; and Ed DeLap, 37 Arlene Ave.

Wilmington grants awarded under Arts Lottery

The Wilmington Council for the Arts has announced that local groups have again been granted Arts Lottery funds with recent certification by the Massachusetts Arts Lottery Council.

The Wilmington Public Schools Performing and Fine Arts Department, the Silver Lake Spotlighters Youth Theatre Workshop, and the Wilmington Arts Council have been awarded grants totaling 2,476.00 for the January, 1985 cycle.

Adele Passmore, chairman of the Wilmington Arts Lottery Council, said she is gratified by the success of previous projects and is hopeful that the current funding will also enhance the cultural life of the community.

The annual exhibit on the town common over the July 4th holiday weekend has encouraged many more local artists to become involved.

Opportunities for funding projects in the arts and humanities have increased in Wilmington because of the Arts Lottery Program.

The Massachusetts Arts Lottery Council will again be distributing 1.5 million dollars in July.

Interested parties should contact the Wilmington Council for the Arts by calling 658-5231. Applications are available at Wilmington Memorial Library and the Town Clerk's office in the town hall off Glen Road. The deadline for submitting applications is April 15. Applications should be sent to the town hall, Wilmington Council for the Arts.

The unknown Mico

Just about everyone who can read, or anyone who watches tv, in this part of the country knows of Mico Kaufman. The Tewksbury sculptor is the man who designed, among other things, the inaugural medals of Presidents Ford and Reagan.

On March 14, a Lowell acquaintance visited the Rotary Club of Tewksbury. He had a package to give to Mico and he knew Mico would be at Rotary. He delivered that package in person.

Some days prior to the Rotary meeting, the man had mailed that package to Mico. It had the correct address, the correct town (Tewksbury) and the correct zip code. It was returned to the sender.

Across the front were the words, stamped by the post office "unknown - return to sender."

Board of Health orders removal of dumpsters from gas station

The Tewksbury Board of Health has ordered the removal of dumpsters that currently stand next to self service car vacuum cleaner units at Haffner's gas station on Main St., South Tewksbury.

The health board voted unanimously Monday to order the dumpsters off the site within ten days because Haffner's is operating "an unlicensed transfer station" for trash. State law provides that trash transfer stations be licensed before they can operate.

The order comes while the board of health and selectmen continue to seek to resolve a trash problem on the site.

Loosely defined, a transfer station is a site where debris is collected on the site until it can be hauled away to a permanent landfill.

The order also allows Haffner Fournier, owner of the self service gasoline station and car wash, the right to request a public hearing to question why the order should not be overturned. If requested, that hearing would be held April 1.

"It's very important he get the chance to have a hearing," said Health Board Chairman Jack Lu.

Health board members and selectmen have asked Fournier to rectify what they and he himself have said is a mis-use of the dumpsters next to automated car vacuum cleaner units.

Officials have expressed concern over the amount and type of trash being collected in on-site dumpsters while some area businessmen have complained that trash collected on the site gradually blows onto their property.

Both town officials and Fournier agree that some people use the dumpsters to discard of household trash and other items, rather than to discard of small items that have collected in their cars.

The vacuum units and dumpsters, Fournier has said, are meant to allow motorists to discard of ashes, drink containers, fast food wrappers, and similar items that normally collect in their cars and to vacuum up sand and dirt that collects on their car's carpet.

However, some people use the dumpsters to discard of household rubbish, old building materials, mattresses, paint cans and other items not normally found in a car.

Positive parenting workshops in Tewksbury

The Special Education Department of the Tewksbury Public Schools will hold two evening workshops for parents on March 25 and April 1 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Center School on Pleasant Street.

This "Positive Parenting" series will focus on alternative discipline approaches and effective communication strategies in family settings.

Morris to be honored as 'Man of the Year'

Long time Tewksbury Lions Club member and former Tewksbury Selectman Richard (Dick) Morris will be honored as Tewksbury's Man of the Year for 1984 on Saturday, April 6 at 7 p.m. at the Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks Hall, South St., Tewksbury.

Richard (Dick) Morris

The award is being presented to Morris by the Tewksbury Chamber of Commerce. This is the fourth year the chamber has given a Man of the Year award. Previous honorees were High School Head Football Coach and current Athletic Director Robert Aylward for 1981; Tewksbury State Hospital Administrator Tom Saunders for 1982; and Pastor of St. William's Church Father Joseph Blaney, O.M.I., for 1983.

I used to have everything to lose. Now I have everything to gain. I look better! I feel better! I'm more alert, more energetic. I have a new confidence that comes from doing something good for myself. I lost the weight I wanted to without drugs, crash diets, or special foods. And I've gained the knowledge and support I need to keep up the good work. I was looking for a healthy way to lose weight. Now that I've found it, I know it will stay with me for the rest of my life.

13 arrested at Tewksbury drunk driving detection roadblock

Police made a total of 13 arrests, most of which were alcohol related, during a large scale drunk driving detection roadblock conducted early last Saturday morning, March 16. In addition to the 13 arrests, a total of three people were placed under protective custody and later released.

Police set-up the roadblock on Main Street in the town center and stopped traffic travelling in both directions. The roadblock was conducted from in front of the BayBank branch office and the Andover Bank branch office.

A total of 21 officers, one of which was a female reserve officer, took part in the four hour roadblock which stopped over 400 vehicles between the hours of 12 midnight and 4 a.m.

The operation was funded from a $4000 state grant received late last year to conduct drunk driving detection programs. Police conducted similar roadblocks over the Christmas and New Year holiday period in which traffic flowing in a single direction along Main Street was stopped. They also conducted several one car saturation patrols. Last weekend's roadblock used up almost all the funds remaining from that grant.

Following is a listing of the arrests made during the operation:

— Andre Brassard, 26, of 64 H St., South Boston was arrested by Officer John Powers at 2:41 a.m. and charged with driving while intoxicated and public drinking.

— David M. Koziol, 18, of 312 Kendall Rd., Tewksbury was arrested by Officer Robert Westaway at 2:38 a.m. and charged with driving while intoxicated.

— Jeanett C. Gagnon, 24, of 290 South St., Tewksbury was arrested by Sgt. Warren Layne at 2:22 a.m. and charged with operating without a license in possession, having defective equipment on a motor vehicle and public drinking.

— Lance C. Joyce, 20, of 126 Lowe St., Tewksbury was arrested by Officer John Powers at 2:12 a.m. and charged with public drinking.

— Stephen A. Barrett, 19, of 44 Apache Way, Tewksbury was arrested by Officer William Layne at 2:07 a.m. and charged with failure to display an inspection sticker and being a minor transporting alcohol.

— Jose O. Agudelo, 29, of 19 Richmond St., Lowell was arrested by Officer James Luz at 2:00 a.m. and charged with operating without a license to do so.

— Scott B. Pineau, 17, of 71 Gray St., Billerica was arrested by Officer John Powers at 1:54 a.m. and charged with being a minor transporting alcohol.

— Michael Carella, 22, of 19 Elm St., Reading was arrested by Officer William Layne at 1:30 a.m. and charged with driving while intoxicated.

— Richard D. Franson, 28, of 11 Madison St., Woburn was arrested by Officer Robert Westaway at 1:28 a.m. and charged with driving while intoxicated.

— Dennis M. Goodine, 19, of 186 Whipple Rd., Tewksbury was arrested by Officer Robert Westaway at 12:59 a.m. and charged with driving while intoxicated and operating without a license in possession.

— John E. Mills, 21, of 3 Reagan Rd., Tewksbury was arrested by Officer John Powers at 12:54 a.m. and charged with driving while intoxicated.

— Kevin C. Moore, 22, of 401 Walker St., Lowell was arrested by Officer William Layne at 12:48 a.m. and charged with failure to display an inspection sticker and on the power of an outstanding warrant for a traffic offense.

— Clifford J. Gannon, 19, of 202 South St., Tewksbury was arrested by Stephen Kandrotas at 12:13 a.m. and charged with being a minor transporting alcohol.

Committee to coordinate scholarships at WHS

A committee has been formed at Wilmington High School to assist scholarship donors in the selection of student recipients. The Scholarship Committee will help connect the desired community, business or family criteria for awards with the most deserving students.

With yearly collegiate tuition bills reaching as high as $13,000 and $14,000 a year, the committee seeks to assist students in locating additional sources of revenue for which they might be qualified.

Any individual, business or group intending to sponsor a scholarship at the Wilmington High School graduation ceremony, and who wishes this award to be based upon specific attributes, should contact Assistant Principal Edward Woods no later than May 1. Woods is chairman of the Scholarship Committee.

Her singing took her to Europe

by Arlene Surprenant
 "You have to set goals and go after what you want," she says, with a disarming smile.

The young lady who espouses this determined philosophy is April Smallidge of Sewell Road, Wilmington, a young lady who has lived by this same philosophy for her entire 18 years.

And if you have any doubts whether the philosophy really works, you have only to talk to this refreshing blonde girl to learn that it does.

April bubbles over with enthusiasm in telling you about her job, new car, various talents and interests, "very smart" brothers and sisters, and, mostly especially, her trip to Europe last summer to sing with a group known as Youth of America.

We talk at length about this opportunity which came her way through her musical ability (she sang alto in the District Chorus while at Wilmington High) and the generosity of local businessmen and organizations who sponsored her trip.

She was honored to be among the 150 high school students chosen from Canada and the New England area for the July tour of Youth of America through eight European countries.

Under the direction of Richard Lombard, Youth of America is composed of a chorus, whose members belt out a selection of up-beat jazz, American classical, and Negro spiritual tunes, a concert band, and an orchestra. The group each year puts on a two hour show in each country on its itinerary. Members dress alike in navy blazer, white shirt, grey skirt or pants, and black shoes.

Before leaving for Europe this year, the students had intensive practice sessions at Anna Maria College in Worcester, where they went over their music 12 hours a day. April considers herself lucky that she had help from WHS music teacher Luther Enstad as she was the only one who knew the music "inside and out plus all the other parts too."

While there, she was paired with roommate Diana Sinsigallo from Connecticut and "got along perfectly" with her on the whole trip. The girls have since relived their experiences together at a reunion in Wilmington and are busy making plans to travel through Europe once again by Eurorail.

What impressed April the most about Europe?

The answer is a toss-up. Churches like Notre Dame in Paris are "beautiful," says she, and play an important part in the heritage of each country. The people she found to be "really friendly," especially in London, while European families seem very close-knit, especially in the Netherlands where she had a chance to observe this closeness first hand in her host family, the Kuperus. The food drew high ratings, especially French and Belgium pastry.

April Smallidge

She expands on the food. European food, she feels, is healthier and less greasy than in the United States. Soup was the first course in every country she visited and wine was drunk by both young and old alike, even in the Burger King in Paris.

One custom she found hard to adjust to was the habit of eating the main meal in the middle of the day, with only bread or rolls and tea for breakfast.

Her favorite country was France, mainly because she had studied French for seven years and could "actually have full conversations with the kids" she met. Paris she termed clean and romantic with a surprising mingling of many races "like in Boston." While Parisians have a strong sense of their own history, she says, they are prone to take advantage of you if they know you're an American.

April found Italy to be "very Americanized" and hot, while England had the distinction of providing the only rainy day of their stay.

A visit to the concentration camps in West Germany, says April with a sad faraway look, was the only "downpoint" of the entire trip.

But she immediately recovers and draws you over to a shoe box full of souvenirs and letters and two photo albums full of candid shots of all the friends she made on her trip, many who call and write regularly.

"I've never met so many people in my life," she says. That's what made the experience fun and worthwhile, in April's eyes. The sightseeing tours, the free time and shopping excursions, the chance to sing with other talented teenagers all seem to take second place to the chance to make lasting friendships.

Her sociability even got her in trouble with her "strict" chaperones once; when two friendly German boys followed her and a girlfriend "all over Germany."

One special friend, French artist Michel Tablos, still writes to her and receives several of April's pen and ink drawings in return. This is partial payment for a lovely oil portrait he painted and gave to her as a gift because she attracted so many people to his place of business while she was sitting for him.

All in all, the trip was very worthwhile and rewarding, says April, and a good way of "representing America."

Besides a yen to travel, one of April's goals has been to develop her talents to their fullest. Besides being an accomplished singer, she is also an outstanding athlete, budding poet and composer, and talented artist. These talents were fostered in her early school years with her teachers' help ("I've lucked out with teachers," she says.) and the encouragement of her large family - parents Carl and Arlene, sisters Marianne and Cindy and brothers Ricky, David and Donald.

While at WHS, April played field hockey and was named co-captain of the team in her senior year. She participated in spring and winter track and, in her sophomore year, broke the school's track record for hurdles. She was a member of the gymnastics team in the ninth grade.

Today she gets as much exercise as she can, despite a back problem resulting from a recent car accident. You can often find April doing aerobics, riding her bike, running the lifecourse at the Regional Health Center, and swimming nightly at Shawsheen Tech.

In her spare time, she tries her hand at writing poetry and composing music, an interest which probably dated back to sixth grade when she wrote "April and the Raindrop" in two part harmony. She still writes songs which she'd like to publish in Boston someday.

With the help of high school art teachers Miss MacDougall and Mrs. Wilson, April prepared an art portfolio and had many of her paintings on display throughout the school.

Today she works in a variety of media and encompasses a wide range of subjects. She most enjoys painting scenery on her summer vacations in Maine. These scenes touch her emotionally and are "very personal." She also paints and sells portraits and animal pictures, though she assures you she could never be a professional artist as she has "to be in the mood to paint." A class in ceramics rounds out her extra activities.

April's full time job with Kirkwood Technical Publications, Inc. in Wilmington seems a direct outgrowth of her interest in the art field. She presently serves as a sort of apprentice in bindery work and the plate room, though she hopes to move up to graphic arts design and her own stationery line someday.

Another of April's goals is to eventually further her education. She graduated from WHS in 1984 with honors.

"When I know what I want to take in college, I'll go," she explains.

Most students go to college right after graduation even though they are not sure what they want to pursue. This, she feels, is a waste of time and money.

In the meantime, she'd like to earn and save as much money as possible so she can "take it easy" when she gets older. Though she has learned the value of a dollar through hard work at various jobs she's held, she has allowed herself one diversion - a 1985 Plymouth Turismo that has her "psyched" and will be arriving soon.

She is hoping to invest part of her earnings in real estate, especially two family rental homes. Though she admits to being "a novice at the whole thing," she is motivated enough to read up on the subject and talk to contacts on the best way to invest her savings.

In looking back over her life so far, April feels good about the fact that she's "gone for everything" within her grasp.

The only type of person she can't relate to is a pessimist or someone who is not willing to take a chance and move ahead with their life.

"I'm always in a good mood," she laughs. April feels she's a true optimist, something she looks on as a gift. She also describes herself as "very, very hyper," though energetic or motivated might be more accurate.

Yes, in this life you have to set goals and go after what you want. But in April's case, it helps to have friends and family who care and an innate receptiveness to new opportunities - opportunities which are surely waiting around the corner for this multi-talented young lady.

Homecoming concert for Pamela Ryder

Pamela Ryder, a Tewksbury born and raised mezzo-soprano, will be performing a vocal recital at the Tewksbury United Methodist Church on Sunday, March 24 at 4 p.m.

Pamela Ryder

Ryder began singing in the church choir at an early age. During her formative years she sang solos in the public schools and then went on to college.

It was long after college years when Ryder realized her ambition in life had always been to sing. This is the field she has been pursuing professionally. Since so much of her life was spent in Tewksbury, she is planning a recital in her home town.

The program will include works of the great composers including Rachminoff, R. Strauss, Milhaud, and concluding with Victor Herbert selections. She will be accompanied by William Merrill (of Boston and New York) at the piano.

Ryder, a graduate of Lowell University, has been performing with the Boston Lyric Opera Company and appearing regularly as guest soloist with organizations such as the Nashua Symphony Orchestra and the MIT Orchestra. This recital is open to the public. All are cordially invited.

For ticket information call Mrs. Drew at 658-3134.

Open house at Tewksbury Junior High

With the end of the second marking term on Friday, January 25 and subsequent distribution of report cards on Friday, February 8, Tewksbury Junior High School has completed more than half of its calendar of events for the 1984-85 school year.

An open house at the school is scheduled for Thursday, March 21. Parents who wish to discuss grades received on the previous report card should attend the open house from 7 to 9 p.m.

Also at this time of year, half year courses either come to an end or started for the first time on January 28.

It is important for parents to check attendance record, comments, and promotion status on this report card. If questions arise, contact school officials. Non-promotion difficulties should be discussed with teachers at this time while there is still sufficient time for satisfactory adjustment.

Eighth grade students will soon be choosing subjects for next year's ninth grade courses at Tewksbury Memorial High School. Orientation and course sign-up procedures will be thoroughly reviewed when High School Principal William DeGregorio visits the junior high shortly.

Application for Shawsheen Tech closed February 1. Students who are admitted to that school will be notified by April 15. Students who have chosen to apply for private school also should be notified prior to that time on their status - acceptance or waiting list.

All testing programs have been completed. Results will be made available to parents upon their receipt.

A hardy group of parents continues to attend regular monthly parents' group meetings. The next meeting of this group has been scheduled for Thursday, March 21, 8 p.m. as part of the open house activities.

Tewksbury Garden Club scholarships available

The Tewksbury Garden Club is currently accepting applications for its annual $200 scholarship for a student to pursue college studies in agriculture, horticulture, forestry, conservation or a related area. Students from Tewksbury area schools may apply by requesting an application form by writing to Joan Unger, Tewksbury Garden Club, 1269 Main St., Tewksbury, Ma. 01876. Call Joan (851-8266) for further information.

Wilmington Youth Basketball

Seventh graders earn top honors

An exciting and fast moving Wilmington seventh grade traveling hoop team took top honors this weekend at the Mount Wachusett Community College Youth Basketball Tournament. The young Wildcats won three games, one in overtime to come away as the Division I champion of the sixth annual MWCC Tourney.

Saturday, March 16 the Wildcats met a team from Salem. Although Wilmington played with only eight of the original 12 members, they won, 56-47.

Jamie Robichaud was high scorer with 27 points, while Mark Bobek and Jason Oliver each hit for eight. Scott Tuxbury went to the hoop for five points and Joey Mahoney swished in four. Mike George sunk two points, while Joey McFadyen and Peter Medberry sparked a strong and fast defense.

Sunday morning the Wildcats met a strong Leominster squad. Again under team strength with only seven players, the locals still came away as the victor in a very close game, 43-42.

Mark Bobek was high man with 19 points and Jamie Robichaud sank 12. Joey Mahoney hit the hoop for seven points and Peter Medberry sank five points.

K.C. Bolger and Joey McFadyen sparked the defense, with Scott Tuxbury strong under the boards.

The final game for the championship was played at 4 p.m. Sunday against a strong, hard playing, fast moving Greenfield club. The young Wildcats bench was increased by two teammates - Greg and Jimmy Maiella - to bring their strength up to nine players.

At the end of regulation time, the game was at a 57-57 deadlock. In an exciting three minute overtime Wilmington surged ahead for a final score of, 61-59. Robichaud hit for 28 points, followed by Mark Bobek with 17 and Joey Mahoney with eight.

Teammates, Scott Tuxbury and Peter Medberry each racked up four points. K.C. Bolger and Joey McFadyen sparked a strong defense.

Each member of the victorious young Wildcat team received a trophy and the very happy and proud coaches, Tom Robichaud, Dave Tuxbury and John Mahoney, were awarded a beautiful team trophy.

The seventh grade hoop team is taking part in a tournament scheduled to begin Monday night, March 18 in North Reading.

Sixth grade Wildcats top Methuen

The sixth grade Wildcats were victorious over Methuen West, 30-26 in overtime in the first game of a Saturday afternoon doubleheader.

The locals displayed a superb late game performance after scratching their way from a third period deficit to a tie the score at the end of regulation play.

Methuen was held scoreless during the two minute overtime while the Wildcats fed Bobby Caruso for both baskets.

Michael Hawley turned in his best performance of the season with seven rebounds and was assisted under the boards by Joey Cunningham and Kevin Lewis, who was also credited with a free throw.

Andy Jamerson, who had a rough start, turned in a strong second half performance and added a field goal and two perfect free throws.

Eric Heselton had three steals, two of which resulted in assists. Tony Bonnarigo, Jimmy Maiella, Bobby Palazzi and Matt Ryan all assisted in rotation and kept the opponents off guard.

Bobby Caruso was high scorer with 13 points. Greg Scarfo scored six points, including an all-net hook shot.

Greg Maiella, although suffering from a knee injury, added six well earned points.

The Wildcats were defeated in the second game by North Andover, a team that had beaten the sixth graders twice earlier this year.

Despite the good efforts by Matt Ryan, Bobby Caruso, Michael Hawley and Greg Maiella, the opponents used an effective fast break for the majority of their points.

The Wildcats will play in the Merrimack College Tournament April 6.

Eighth graders in command

Wilmington's eighth grade traveling team was paired against Burlington last week in its' first game of the Salem State Basketball Tournament. The young Wildcats were in command all the way, holding their opponents to 10 points in the first half enroute to a 45-29 victory.

It was a well balanced team effort, with aggressive defensive work that surrendered just seven points to Burlington's top scorer.

Eye contact

Tewksbury High School senior Nancy DeStefano has eyes only for the hoop despite the overflow crowd looking on at the recent MVC All-Star game.

Back next year

Redmen junior Karen Hennessy, shown here in MVC All-Star hoop action, will return next season to lead coach Barry Sheehan's squad. This spring Karen will be a member of the TMHS softball squad.

Tewksbury Adult Basketball

O'Brien's ends Towne title reign, 76-74

O'Brien's Roofing, the regular season champs, rolled through the playoffs to the Tewksbury Adult Basketball League title with a 76-74 overtime win Thursday night over long reigning champion Towne Auto.

Tied at 70-70 at the end of regulation, the two teams traded free throws in the overtime until Ron Wallace hit a baseline jumper with 10 seconds left to give O'Brien's a 75-74 lead. A free throw by Kevin O'Brien salted away the win.

Leading O'Brien's to the win were forward Ron Browder with 20 points, followed by Kevin O'Brien with 18 and Todd DiRocco with 12.

TJ Caveney, hobbled by a bad ankle, shared scoring honors with Ed Caveney, as each player had 23 for Towne. Barry Sheehan, also playing hurt, chipped in with 14.

Over 30 division

Towne Auto and Picwell-Ahernco remain tied for first in Over 30 play with 5-1 records. Both teams had tough games last week, as Towne hung on to beat the McNamara Club, 61-57 and P-A had to come from behind to stop Sullivan's Insurance, 74-67.

Last season's MVP Barry Sheehan led Towne with 20 points, followed by Steve Catalano with 19 and Keith Caveney with 16.

The McNamara Club was paced by Keery McNamara's 17 points, Bill Keegan's 16 and Doc Guthrie's 10.

Foul shooting was the difference in the nightcap, as Picwell-Ahernco hit 20 for 20 while Sullivan's went 17 for 37.

The leading scorer for P-A was Dave Trudel with 21, followed by Doug Ahern with 20 and Jerry Welch with 15. Sullivan's put four players in double figures, led by Tom Baker 15, Walt Bacigalupo 13 and Jim Hurd and Joe Carroll with 12 apiece.

Tewksbury Youth Basketball

Pacers win Senior crown

The Pacers of the Tewksbury Youth Basketball Senior League defeated the Hawks, 66-53 to win their division title last week.

Leading scorers for the Pacers were Chris Sullivan with 17 points, Shawn Sullivan with 13 points and Sean McDonogh and Tim Quinn with 11 and 10 points respectively.

For the Hawks, who won their division with a 12-1 regular season record, Ken Culletson had 17 points, Tom Bradley had 15 and Ted Sullivan had 11. The Pacers, who finished behind the Hawks in regular season, defeated the East Division champion Rockets to move into the championship game.

A second quarter explosion by the Pacers when they outscored the Hawks, 26-8 enabled the champions to withstand a furious fourth quarter comeback by the Hawks.

Youth Hockey registration

Tewksbury Youth Hockey registration for the 1985-86 season will be held at the town hall on the following dates and times.

Thursday, March 21, 7 to 9 p.m.; Friday, March 22, 7 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, March 23, 9 a.m. to noon.

Stephen Hanifan dominated the boards and led the scoring with 17 points, followed by the outstanding play of Mark Palmisano (12 points) and Ronnie Pennie (six points).

Michael Buonopane hit for four points, Neil Pentinen and Chris Riccio two each and Brian Pupa and Jeff Bowen each hit one from the foul line.

Sean Colclough's defensive contribution rounded out this impressive team victory. The boys will continue into the quarterfinals next Saturday.

The team would like to send greetings to a former teammate, Brian Davis, who recently moved to Arizona and who keeps up with Wilmington sports each week in the Town Crier.

College Corner

Wilmington trio paces Trinity

In a wild and exciting game, number one seed Trinity was upset by number three seed S.E. Massachusetts, 3-2 at the Wesleyan Arena Saturday. Trinity rallied from a 2-0 deficit to tie the score at 2-2 on second period goals by Wilmington's Frank Newark and Vern Meyer, but gave up the decisive score just 40 seconds later.

A free-wheeling third period proved scoreless. Despite the loss, the Bants, 16-3 in Div. III, were honored with the selection of sophomore goalie Art Fitzgerald as tournament MVP. He had been a key factor in all three playoff games as the last line of defense. During the season Fitzgerald was by far the ECAC leader in goals against average (2.54) and was selected as an ECAC first team all-star.

Only two seniors graduate from the team that was 16-8 overall. Barney Corning, called Trinity's best defenseman ever and an ECAC first team all star last year and a second teamer this year, finished with 26 goals and 54 assists. Mike Sloan was the team's leading scorer this year at center with 23 goals and 17 assists. In four years Mike had 54 goals and 51 assists.

Coach John Dunham has a good group returning next year. Four junior forwards provide scoring punch- Meyer, Bill Slaney, Richard Stetson, and Tom Sheehy. Junior Chris Lorenz leads a corps of four sophomore defensemen - Mike Solomita, Bill Blank, Andy Filler and Mike Doyle. Three sophomore forwards found the net with frequency - Peter Worthing, Wilmington's Dan Ward and Newark.

The four rookies who saw considerable playing time were forwards Matt Keator, Robert Shriver, Robert Loeber and Wilmington's Kevin Robinson. Another crop like that and the Bants may win the big one in 1986.

North Reading Basketball Camp

The fourth annual North Reading Basketball Camp will be held at North Reading High School from July 22 to August 2. Due to capacity enrollment last summer, the camp will be expanded to two sessions.

The first session, from July 22 to July 26, will be for boys entering grades six, seven and eight. The second session, from July 29 to August 2, will be for boys entering grades eight, nine and 10.

The camp will again be under the direction of North Reading High School basketball coach Barry Kipnes.

Other members of the staff will include Rich Butterworth of Hamilton-Wenham, Joe Casey of Masconomet, John Doherty of North Reading, Paul Finn of Newburyport, Tom Gallagher of Chelmsford and Barry Humphreys of Greater Lowell. Other coaches will be added to the staff at a later date.

The camp day will run from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Heavy emphasis will be placed on fundamentals, and all areas of individual play will be covered. The program of instruction includes drill stations, instructional tapes and lectures.

Games will be played every day, with each camper playing an equal amount of time. Enrollment is limited, which will allow for maximum playing time and attention to each camper.

In the past three years campers have attended from Andover, Auburn, N.H., Billerica, Chelmsford, Chelsea, Hamilton, Lynn, Lynnfield, Methuen, Newburyport, North Andover, North Reading, Peabody, Saugus, Tewksbury, Wakefield and Wilmington. Many former campers have played on their freshman, junior varsity and varsity teams.

Tuition for the week is $77.50, which includes a camp t-shirt, certificate of attendance, fundamentals handbook and coach's evaluation. For a brochure or more information, Call Barry Kipnes at 664-2471 or write to Barry Kipnes, B-1 Colonial Drive, Andover, MA 01810.

Austin Prep presents hockey, hoop awards

At a mass and brunch hosted by the Athletic Association, Austin Prep recently presented awards to the students who participated in hockey and basketball this winter. The mass was celebrated for the athletes, coaches, and their families by the Rev. James Flynn, S.A. prior of the Augustinian Community, and the school's chaplains, the Rev. Thomas Meehan, O.S.A., and the Rev. James Gillin O.S.A.

A brunch followed, and then the awards, with Athletic Director Paul Downey of Beverly, serving as master of ceremonies.

The two top award winners presented in basketball were the 1984-85 team Most Valuable Player, senior co-captain Tim Murphy of Burlington. Honored as the Student Athlete for his academic, as well as athletic achievements was senior guard John Martin of Reading. Martin ranks second in his class and has been on the Dean's List and honor roll for all seven semesters of his academic career.

The two top award winners in hockey were the 1984-85 Most Valuable Player as selected by vote of the team members. This year's Massachusetts South Sectional quarter finalists in Division I selected co-captain senior Bill Flanagan for this honor. The Student-Athlete award was presented to senior Joe Cantone, an honor roll student and senior forward on the team.

All-Star and All-Scholastic awards were also announced as three players from the hockey team were selected as First Team Catholic Conference All-Stars. These same three athletes were selected to play for the Catholic All-Scholastic team in the 1985 Hockey Night in Boston's Eighth Annual All New England All-Scholastic Tournament. The three athletes so honored were senior forward Bill Flanagan, junior forward Tom Fitzgerald and junior defenseman Rusty Jordan.

Varsity letters were presented to the following varsity basketball team members: Seniors: Co-captain Tim Murphy, Burlington; Co-captain Steve Thompson, Burlington;

Sean Smith, Reading; Matt Dattilo, North Reading; John Martin, Reading; Mark Higgins, Wakefield; Mike Connors, Burlington; Steve Linehan, Woburn; Tim Larkin of Marblehead.

Juniors: Steve Khentigan, Methuen; Joe Hyatt, Methuen; Sean McMahon, Saugus; Matt Quanci, Reading.

Presentations were made by head coach Randy Young of Lowell whose team finished with a 7-13 record, with 11 losses coming by narrow margins at the hands of Massachusetts tournament teams. Next year the team will compete in the Catholic Central League. This year the team was an independent within Massachusetts Division III.

Varsity hockey coach Ed McColagan of Billerica and assistant varsity coach Steve Arnold of Billerica presented the team members with their varsity letters. The team finished the year at 13-7-2 overall with a third place finish in the Catholic Conference (9-5-2 in the league). The team qualified for the Massachusetts State Tournament after a two year absence. Varsity letter winners: Seniors: Co-captain Bill Flanagan of Burlington; Co-captain Bill Engel of Burlington; Mike McDade of Burlington; Bob Ficociello of Burlington; Bill MacDonald of Burlington and Joe Cantone of Stoneham.

Juniors: Tom Fitzgerald, Billerica; Jim Sullivan, Billerica; Sean Hagerty, Stoneham; Ron Overko, Woburn; Rusty Jordan, Lynn; Ed Locke, Nahant; Dan Murphy, of Concord; Steve Higgins, Billerica; Frank Hoff, Billerica.

Sophomores: Nick Chingris, Billerica; Bill Fitzpatrick, Billerica; Dave Paparo, Billerica; and Joe Flanagan, Burlington.

Junior varsity basketball letters were presented by J.V. coach Dennis Murphy of Salem, N.H. to the following: Juniors: Michael Thompson, of Burlington; Scott Sellers, Reading; Chris Boucher, North Billerica.

Sophomores: Kevin Daniles, Stoneham; Damon Reinhold, Stoneham; Peter Feeley, North

Reading; Michael Dixon, Melrose; Craig Kolek, Tewksbury; Eric Mohan, Tewksbury; Michael Bowers, Beverly Farms and Paul Tripani, Lynnfield.

Junior varsity hockey letters were presented by J.V. hockey coach Bob Perry of Waltham.

Juniors: Scott Bandoni, Burlington; Mike Sousa, Ipswich; Rich Lombardozzi, North Reading; John Dillon, Burlington; Sean Carabatsos, Ipswich; Mike Cassidy, Peabody; John Weber, Lynn; Steve Finn, Melrose.

Freshman class athletes were awarded their class numerals "88" to place on their awards sweaters or jackets. Freshman class numerals were presented to the freshman basketball team, in the absence of coach Frank McCarthy of West Roxbury, by the assistant freshman basketball coach, Robert Brogan, Class of 1985, Medford. Robert was presented a varsity letter by the Athletic Department for his service to the team. The numerals were presented to John Collings, North Reading; David Cavanaugh, North Andover; Chris D'Antonio, Wilmington; John Wrobel, North Tewksbury; Eugene Geary, Tewksbury; Paul Lucero, Woburn; Bill Parker, Tewksbury; Peter Telis, Saugus; Paul Mirabella, Tewksbury; Steve Zampitella, Peabody.

Freshman class numerals were also presented to the 1984-85 freshman hockey team by their coach Jim McAdam of Lynnfield. The team finished with a 12-4-4 record despite having only 14 team members this year while playing a Catholic Conference schedule.

Second drug arrest in three weeks for Wilmington man

Quantities of cocaine and marijuana along with a supply of drug paraphernalia were confiscated by Wilmington police from a Burlington Avenue home Monday night after a call for help from the owner tipped police off to illegal drug activity taking place.

Allan J. Cook, 31, of 31 Burlington Avenue, was arraigned yesterday in Woburn Court on charges of possession of Class B, cocaine; possession of class D, marijuana; possession with intent to distribute class D, marijuana and possession of hypodermic needles.

In court, yesterday, Cook opted for a six man jury trial. He or his attorneys will appear in Lowell Court on April 1.

Police Chief Bobby Stewart said Cook had made numerous calls to report "intruders" in his home over the weekend preceding his arrest. Each time the police arrived, however, he said, there were no intruders to be found.

Stewart said that when Officer Jon Shepherd responded to a call at that address at 2:48 Monday morning, he spotted "hypodermic needles, scales and wrapping papers" consistent with drug use and reported this.

The police obtained a warrant to search the Cook home and last night seized approximately five ounces of marijuana, one-eighth of an ounce of cocaine and the drug paraphernalia, Stewart said.

The raid was made by Stewart, Detective Sgt. George Shepherd, Inspectors Michael Celata, Mark Jepson and Michael McKenna, and Officers Larry Redding, Joseph Waterhouse and Jon Shepherd.

Cook had been arrested, as well, on February 25 on a variety of drug charges and on charges of kidnapping and assault, which were later dropped, by guests at his home on that date.

Cook, who lists himself as a self-employed window cleaner, accused his two guests last February of stealing drugs from him. Allegedly, he assaulted the guests and refused to allow them to leave. When the guests finally got away, they alerted police who obtained search warrants and conducted the February raid that led to Cook's arrest.

Probable cause was found in the February 25 drug charges and Cook's case was bound over for the Grand Jury in Superior Court.

Exploring the tragedy of teenage suicide

"I thought I was immortal, that my children and my family were also. That tragedy happened only to others But..."

The facts about suicide reflect a frightening reality, a reality which the Samaritans, a nationally known suicide prevention group, will explore in two presentations in Wilmington on March 28.

The news is rampant with adults, celebrities, and young people committing suicide. For teenagers, death by suicide is second only to death in car accidents. Nationwide, 1,000 teenage suicides are attempted each day.

In a classroom of 16-year-olds, very few have never been touched by suicide. Most have known someone who has felt suicidal or who has attempted suicide. Many have been "put on the spot" by friends who confess suicidal thoughts and swear them to secrecy. They don't know how to take suicide threats seriously, and they don't know where to turn for help. Would you know where to turn for help?

The Samaritans is an international organization whose goal is suicide prevention through hot lines, guidance for people who have been personally touched by a suicide, and informational meetings for people who realize that education and information about Wilmington Community Schools, Inc. has been selected the winner in a recent Concern for Kids in the Community award program.

Sponsored by the Wilmington Women's Club on behalf of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Health-Tex Inc., a leading manufacturer of children's clothes, the award was to honor someone or some group in the community which has shown concern for the town's youth through specific projects.

Wilmington Community Schools, a non-profit organization in existence since 1978, offers academic and leisure - time courses as well as individual programs. It is an independent, non-funded organization of volunteers under Director Gail Vozzella.

Learn not to burn is only one of the outstanding programs

Concern for Kids award goes to Wilmington Community Schools brought to the children of Wilmington under the auspices of the Community Schools. All nursery and kindergarten children were exposed to this worthwhile program during Fire Prevention Week.

Youngsters have also been offered an Exploring program during vacations and summer free time. Courses such as creative writing, art basics, and beginning guitar were especially designed to appeal to Wilmington teenagers. And lectures on Deflecting Peer Pressure and Child Safety have been offered to help the young people of our town.

The Women's Club is proud to recognize the Community Schools for its concern for youth of all ages and it wishes to encourage them in their future endeavors. That organization is now eligible for state and national prizes.

Also recognized for its outstanding work for the children of Wilmington through its drug awareness campaign was the Chemical People Task Force, which received an honorable award. This worthy organization is under the direction of Co-chairmen Anne D. Linehan and Bruce Peters.

Serving as judges for the Concern for Kids program were Ann Spring, chairman of the Women's Club Home Life Department; Marjorie Marshall, guidance counselor at Wilmington High School; Arlene Surprenant, reporter for the Town Crier; and Win Polsey, local businessman and member of the Kiwanis Club.

Wilmington police news

During the week ending March 19, Wilmington police officers responded to three accidents, nine alarms, two disturbances and two incidents of suspicious activity.

Fifteen arrests were made along with one protective custody detention. Three larcenies were reported along with one break and entry and one threat. One stolen vehicle was recovered, six incidents of vandalism were reported and one traffic complaint was logged.

Arrests

Lowell police arrested Brian Walsh of Paris Street, Methuen on a Wilmington warrant. Officers Peterson and Shepard picked him up and brought him to Wilmington to be bailed.

Wednesday morning Officer Al Venuti arrested two men on outstanding warrants after a routine traffic stop and computer check. David Cacicio of Pearl Street, Stoneham was wanted by Lynnfield police and Donald Corsano of Meadowbrook Road, Saugus was wanted by Taunton police. Both men were released to the respective police departments.

Early Thursday Officer Steve Mauriello arrested a local man on drug related charges. Dwight Storer, 21, of Mystic Avenue was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of drugs and possession of marijuana. He appeared in Woburn Court Thursday where his case was continued for two weeks.

Also on Thursday, following investigation of an accident on Glen Road near the railroad track, Alan Sunnerberg was arrested and charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

The arrest of Delbert Denbow of Perry Street, Reading resulted from the investigation of a disturbance at Lucci's parking lot Thursday evening. Officer Steve Parsons made the arrest.

Officer Steve Mauriello arrested Joseph Moreira of Fairmont Avenue, Arlington for DWI and an outstanding MDC police warrant early Saturday morning.

Saturday night Officer Al Venuti arrested John Johnson of John Street, Reading for DWI. Michael Hill of Hensam Street, Stoneham, was also arrested for DWI by Officer Venuti on Saturday evening.

Robert Fay Jr., Foster Road, Tewksbury was arrested early Sunday morning following investigation of an accident by Officer Hancock.

On Monday night a search was executed at 31 Burlington Avenue, resulting in the confiscation of a quantity of narcotics and paraphernalia and the arrest of Alan Cook, 32, of that address. Participating in the raid were Insp. Jepson, Celata, McKenna, Sgt. Shepard, Chief Stewart, Officers Redding, Waterhouse and Shepard.

Town meeting

fair market value of the land today, he said, but also covers any expenses Baizen incurred while preparing that site for his office building, with room for "a reasonable profit" on his part.

Voters expressed the hope that selectmen would be more careful so that this type of land taking will be avoided in the future. Their approval of the article, 596 to 25, gave selectmen the opportunity to take the land and apply for 80 per cent state reimbursement.

In a 738 to one vote, residents authorized selectmen to transfer 54 acres of the Town Forest to the custody of the Conservation Commission. This, it was explained, would make it easier to apply for state funding to beautify and maintain that property.

According to Rep. Miceli, who proposed the article, the "town's got to wake up" and save some of its land for future or "passive recreation" use before it's too late. Hopefully, he said, this article will be a first step in starting a "long range plan."

Conservation Commission Chairman Chester Bruce agreed, saying that what's happening in that area with all the rubbish lying around is a "disgrace."

Along with the transfer, Water and Sewer Commission Chairman George Allan explained the article will also reserve part of that land for a water storage tank which may be "three or four years down the road."

Tom Roussell of the Conservation Commission made one clarification. He pointed out that not only would a two-thirds vote be required of Wilmington voters, but also of both state houses for the transfer to be considered legal. Miceli replied that he was confident this bill would go through.

In an affirmative voice vote, residents agreed to sell two town-owned lots by Silver Lake to Mary DelNinno for the sum of $11,000, which is the assessed value, with restrictions. The primary restriction placed on the sale by the selectmen is that no building or structure ever be placed on that parcel but that the land remain open for the "perpetual enjoyment" of Silver Lake.

This restriction was agreed to by Nick DelNinno. He explained his mother Mary wanted the land not as part of her contiguous premises, but to ensure her privacy and assure her that no building or beach will be put on that property somewhere along the line.

"Do you want the land. Then buy it," shouted one resident and that's exactly what DelNinno did, despite some concern that the town should not sell any more town-owned land until it is catalogued.

Finally, in a surprise move, planning board members asked voters to pass over Article Four and take no action on it at this time.

This article, requiring new auto dealerships to come under High Density Business zoning, said Planning Board Chairman Tony Gentile, would cause "undue hardship" to Roger Groux if passed.

Groux is in the process of putting a Honda dealership on the town line on Concord Street and would be adversely affected by such a change in zoning at this time. Since Groux had invested so much time and money in his plans, it was felt that passing over the article was the best action to take. Voters agreed to allow the warrant change.

Reading youths aid in clinic for unborn

By JIM ROUILLARD

It is a story of self-denial. But it also concerns "The heat of life in the handful of dust," Joseph Conrad's phrase for the qualities of spunk and aspiration in youth.

Though he was writing of his own youth, Conrad might well have been writing about the spunk and aspiration in some of the teenagers who comprise the youth community at Saint Agnes Church in Reading.

The youngsters of Saint Agnes are among thousands throughout Middlesex County and Eastern Massachusetts who are setting out to achieve what some people say cannot be achieved. They are trying to raise $100,000 in a very short time — to build an intensive care unit for the newly born in Ecuador.

But the story really begins a little further back, during the Pope's 1979 visit to Boston, and his appeal to all to go out and continue the work of the founder of Christianity:

"The reason for my mission, for my journey, throughout the United States, is to tell you, to tell everyone — young and old alike — to say to everyone in the name of Christ: 'Come and follow me!'"

Large things can come from small beginnings.

In the words of Globe writer Jack Thomas:

"He came at a propitious time, this Autumn of 1979. What

"POR CRISTO" — BOB DOOLITTLE, Youth Coordinator at Reading's Saint Agnes Catholic Church, with three of the teens who will contribute their time, energies, and 24 hours of fasting this weekend to help build a clinic for the saving of newborn lives in Ecuador. good was his visit? Why was he able to stir our emotions so?

"And how did it happen that in a nation supposedly locked in the grip of secularism, materialism and selfishness, Pope John Paul II was able to attract the largest multitudes in American history?"

"The answer is that he touched us deeply, maybe not all of us in our heads with his religion, but in our hearts by his love."

His touch continues. As a result of the Pope's appeal, according to Youth Coordinator Bob Doolittle of Reading's Saint Agnes Church, a group of Boston-area medical people, organized under the collective title of "Por Cristo (For Christ)," decided to donate their vacations to work among the very poor of Ecuador.

Their work there over the last five years has led them to perceive very large needs among the poor in the South American republic. Doolittle said, particularly among the newborn, where the death rate of premature babies is 70 percent.

Recently, the Por Cristo personnel approached Bernard Law, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, with what some call an impossible request: to raise $100,000 for the clinic before Palm Sunday (March 21).

The Archbishop's response was that he knew just the people who can accomplish the task: the youth of the archdiocese.

Archbishop Law left it to the individual ingenuity of the youth of each parish to decide how to meet the challenge. Doolittle said, with each group deciding

Austin Prep Entrance Exam

Austin Prep's annual spring Entrance Exam will be held on Saturday morning, March 30, at 8:30 a.m. The test will be given at the school, 101 Willow St., Reading, near Routes 93 and 128. Preregistration for the exam is not required. All applicants must take the exam in person at the school.

This Entrance Exam is for students who wish to apply for openings this September. Applications will be accepted from students who wish to enter the ninth grade, and also from transfer students who wish to enter the tenth grade. The school accepts students of all faiths.

Austin Preparatory School is a private Catholic secondary school which offers a college preparatory curriculum tailored to individual ability levels. Last year, 97 percent of the senior class entered college, with 90 percent accepted at their first or second choice college.

Austin Prep offers college-level Advanced Placement courses in several departments. This year, a new computer laboratory was dedicated. The new facility is an Acorn Micro computer system with 26 terminals which can be used in a network or independently. The terminals offer dual-language capability, all-color monitors, arcade-quality graphics, and word processors.

The area prep school also offers extensive extracurricular activities and a program of intramural and interscholastic sports.

Thoughts that cross your mind

FM TALK: Our far-flung correspondent did a lot of thinking this week. The following are some of the thoughts that crossed his mind:

I'm going to kick off this week's column by mentioning a very dear old friend of mine, Diana Venora, of East Hartford, Connecticut, whom I attended the Boston Conservatory of Music with during the early seventies. Diana, who starred with Albert Finney in "Wolfen," will appear with the late James Mason in the upcoming ABC movie "A.D.," which premieres on Sunday, March 31.

Diana received rave reviews last year for her portrayal of "Hamlet" in the Joseph Papp Broadway production of the Shakespearean play. You can also see her in many television commercials.

I'm not saying this because she's an old girlfriend, but I think Diana is going to blossom into one of Hollywood's biggest stars in the next few years. Diana, by the time you get a clipping of this, you will probably be hard at work on another play or film, but I'll never forget the time we spent together in the Back Bay or the months we worked together at the BCM Theatre on Hemenway Street.

While on the subject of films, I'd like to make my annual Academy Award predictions. I like "The Killing Fields" in the Best Film category; Sam Waterston ("The Killing Fields") as Best Actor; Judy Davis ("A Passage to India") as Best Actress; and Roland Joffe ("The Killing Fields") as Best Director. The Directors Guild may have thrown a kink in my predictions for Best Film, Best Actor and Best Director, however. The Directors Guild has selected Milos Forman, who directed "Amadeus," which has a total of eleven Academy Awards nominations, as Best Director of the year. Oscar tradition is that the Best Director's film and the actors therein generally pick up the awards in their respective categories. So if this is the case in April, we can forget all about my predictions for this year.

One prediction that has been haunting my mind lately is, of all things, who will be the Democratic nominee for president in 1988.

I think our Senator Kennedy will certainly be a frontrunner. His recent positive publicity in Ethiopia is setting the groundwork for a national campaign that'll probably kick off unofficially in another year or so, well after the 1986 elections, anyway. As for a runningmate, how about New York Governor Mario Cuomo?

On the logical side, he seems like a perfect VP candidate. But on the practical side (who wants to be pragmatic when it comes to politics these days?), both Kennedy and Cuomo have big strikes against them. To begin WAKEFIELD — The Retired Men's Club of Wakefield held their regular meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 27 at the Congregational Church Hall with 318 members attending.

President Merrifield opened the meeting by extending his good wishes and welcoming all the members present. He also, on behalf of the membership, extended good wishes and congratulations to member R. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, who have recently celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary.

President Merrifield also read two letters, one from Congressman Markey and one from President Reagan congratulating and extending their best wishes to member C. Card for his 50 years of participation in the Boy Scouts.

Three new members were welcomed into the club, A. Haberman, G. DellaPiano and J. Mitchell.

Birthday greetings were extended to all members whose anniversary falls in February.

John Griffin reported on members that are sick and are confined in local hospitals and nursing homes.

A moment of silence was observed in respect to two members who recently passed away.

Visitors were introduced and welcomed by the President, namely: E. Bennett from Wakefield, C. Egan from Wakefield, R. Bunker from Melrose and C. Reed from Malden.

Henry Porter reported for the Camera Club stating that the next meeting is scheduled for March 5. J. Boyd reported for the Stamp Club inviting all members that are interested that the next meeting will be held on March 12 at 1:30 p.m.

R. Sproul brought the club up to date on the upcoming trips that are being planned and scheduled: 1. To the maple syrup country in March. 2. To the Gaspe Peninsula in June, and 3. A trip is being planned for later in the summer to the western part of the country.

The President announced that the speaker for the next meeting is to be a representative from the firm of H & R Block. This should prove to be very interesting, especially at this time of the year when the income tax deadline is approaching us.

Vice President G. Richards introduced the speaker for the day, Dr. Kirkwood. Dr. Kirkwood spoke on the Middle East and its various religious factors that exist in that area. He explained how the religion is a very important factor in the stability of the area. He explained the various sects of the Islamic faith and how it controls and affects their lives. He commented on the strategic location of the Middle East. Many times it's referred to as the crossroads of the world, located in an area rich in oil deposits and its importance to the economy of the rest of the world.

The talks was well received by the membership.

The meeting adjourned at 11:45 a.m.

Soft Touch

By PAT SULLIVAN

There's something in the air today.

A hauntingly, familiar thing.

It stirs a feeling, deep inside...

It's the very first touch of Spring!

The breeze caresses like a lover's touch, and gone is winter's bite.

Soon, the earth will bloom again all colorful, warm and bright.

DON'T BE FOOLED!!!

There are many cheap imitations of better quality cribs, furniture, mattresses, car seats, bumper sets, and strollers. These copies may look just like the better products. And there are many places you can find them.

But at the Baby's Room we select only products that are built to last. We believe it is a much better decision for you to buy infant products just once, although it may cost more initially. We hear stories daily from new parents who have broken cribs, poorly made furniture, strollers with broken wheels, cloth bumpers ruined in the wash, popped springs on mattresses, and more.

The staff of The Baby's Room is trained to explain differences in quality, safety, and practicality when you are choosing infant products. We will also encourage you to shop around and compare (rather than pushing to close the sale.) An informed consumer is the best consumer.

For excellent prices and full service, come visit our showrooms soon.

Unborn aided by these Reading youths on its own how best to raise or contribute money.

The youth community at Saint Agnes chose a means particularly appropriate to Lent, the season of self-denial: to have a 24-hour fast-with-sponsors in the parish center on Woburn Street. The day of fast, meditation and discussion will begin this Friday, March 22, with a Lenten "denial meal" of plain lentil or tomato soup, bread and water.

The teens and their adult guests will eat the simple meal at 6 p.m., then convene for a group meeting, later to separate for smaller units for discussion, and an overnight retreat in the parish hall.

They will forego solid food for a full day, though they will be permitted liquids. The individual youngsters are seeking financial sponsors for the micro-cosmic and symbolic sacrifice they will undergo for 24 hours.

A small sacrifice for the well-fed? Perhaps. But it will serve to provide tangible, monetary support which will translate to the saving of lives — for some of the millions on this planet who suffer lives like that described by philosopher Thomas Hobbes: poor, nasty, brutish, and short. And few shorter, in fact, than that of the 70 percent of premature babies who die each year in Ecuador.

Bob Doolittle, who has an appealing, laid-back, benign approach with the youth community at St. Agnes, which has been in his charge for the past 10 years, envisages the Lenten fast and retreat as supportive of the youth community's larger purpose as well: to build faith.

The gentle and humorous Reading resident, who somehow seems more vibrant and younger than his 43 years, also agreed with the youth members who maintain the group has helped them come to know themselves and each other better, through the bond of spiritual community which they share.

In connection with this, about 25 members of the youth community recently attended the movie "The Breakfast Club," a funny and moving tale of five teenagers: "A jock, a brain, a basket-case, a princess and a criminal," from five typical insulated roles, each locked in his or her own cliché. Regina O'Connell Merrill of Stoneham, one of the adult leaders who assist Bob in his ministry to the youth, invited me to join them for the movie and the ensuing discussion.

Though there are minor problems with "The Breakfast Club," it has a telling point:

Through what Bob Doolittle describes as "a pressure-cooker situation" — spending eight hours on Saturday in school detention — the five protagonists, who begin as virtual strangers, come to know themselves and each other better, and may begin to ease out of their self-contained stereotypes, to look at each other, to understand their commonality, and to like each other despite their differences.

"The Breakfast Club" has been panned by some critics — but it is a light-hearted, refreshingly loony look at the age-old feud between the generations, which goes back at least to Socrates and assuredly beyond, to the caves, perhaps even to the trees.

But the point here is less to review the movie than to illustrate what both good and bad art can achieve: the opening of young minds to inquiry, thought, mental exercise, tolerance of and belief in the richness of diversity and, yes, even to spirituality, in Doolittle's and Merrill's view.

Part of the aim of Saint Agnes' youth community, as witnessed by the youngsters who spoke at the discussion after the movie, is to open up, to show themselves, honestly, as what they are.

And the youths and the leaders both expressed the hope that the March 22 Lenten fast may provide a sort of spiritual pressure-cooker to help generate the knowledge of self and each other as a parallel to that which the members of "The Breakfast Club," gain through their own spiritual journey.

It was clear through the discussion that many of the youth present felt they had grown through the experiences with the Saint Agnes youth community, and through the qualities which its leadership program develops. The discussion was spontaneous, insightful, lively, spiritually oriented and interesting.

Whatever the relative merit of "The Breakfast Club" may be, or the upshot of the fasting and retreat planned for March 22, it

"Spring into Shape"

There is plenty of time to "spring into shape" for the Fifth Annual Lahey Clinic Road Race to be held on Sunday, April 28 in Burlington.

The race, which includes five-kilometer (3.1 mile) and 10-kilometer (6.2 mile) courses, is once again sponsored by the Sports Medicine Clinic at the Lahey Clinic Medical Center, and proceeds of the race will benefit the Burlington High School Scholarship Fund.

"Many people find it difficult to run in the winter months," says Stephen A. Wasilewski, M.D., Director of Lahey's Sports Medicine Clinic and Chairman of the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery. "By scheduling the race a few weeks later in the spring, we hope to give people a little more time to get back into shape for our race."

While more experienced runners often choose to run the 10-kilometer course, the five-kilometer race is attractive for people with less experience running competitively. Both races start at 11:00 a.m. in the parking lot of the Lahey Clinic Medical Center on Mall Road, went their way through the streets of Burlington and finish back at the Medical Center. An electronic finish line will provide precise finishing times this year.

Prizes will be awarded to the top male and female finishers in three age categories: 19 years and under; 19-40 years and 41 years and over. Refreshments will be served immediately following the race.

The Holiday Inn of Burlington is generously providing t-shirts for runners and volunteers; Stouffer's Bedford Glen Hotel and the Burlington Marriott Hotel are contributing "getaway" weekends and brunches for winners.

Advance registration for the event is $5.00. Last year's participants will soon receive registration forms in the mail. Newcomers are invited to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Sports Medicine Clinic, Lahey Clinic Medical Center, 41 Mall Road, Box 541, Burlington, Ma. 01805, asking for a registration form.

Runners can also register the morning of the race for a $7.00 fee.

MIDDLE SCHOOL YEARS

The Health Education department of New England Memorial Hospital continues its Family Living Series in April with three workshop discussions on "The Middle School Years: Ages 8-12."

Beginning April 1, three meetings will take place on Monday evenings from 7:30-9:30 p.m. This will be the fourth in a five-month long series of workshops designed for parents, parents-to-be, and those who work with children to better understand the developmental stages of growth.

Specific topics include: April 1 — Learning In and Out of the Classroom: The Parent's Role; April 8 — Helping Your Child to Choose and Be a Good Friend; April 22 — Communication and Discipline: Fairness in Setting Limits.

On site babysitting is available during the workshops for the cost of $1.00 per child. For additional information and to register, call the Health Education department at NEMH — 665-1740, ext. 426.

NORTHEAST SINGLES

VOLUNTEERS

The Nursing Home Outreach Program is holding a major recruitment drive to enlist volunteers for a training session beginning March 26. The Department of Elder Affairs sponsors the free sessions, which focus on various aspects of aging, problem solving, interviewing and other skills.

After training, volunteers visit local nursing and rest homes for at least three hours a week to provide information, discuss problems and seek resolutions to concerns.

A major goal of the Nursing Home Outreach Program is to re-establish a community link for nursing home residents. The dedication and perseverance of the volunteers in the Program has helped to alleviate many of the fears and problems the nursing home residents must face. One need not be an expert in the field of aging to become a volunteer. The major qualifications are empathy and concern.

If you would like to discuss a concern about a nursing home or learn more about the Nursing Home Outreach Program, contact Andrea Rubin at 322-4766.

The Program is sponsored by Jewish Family and Children's Service and funded by Mystic Valley Elder Services, Inc. Towns covered are Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham and Wakefield.

BLOODMOBILES

Upcoming American Red Cross Bloodmobiles in the Eastern Middlesex Region are as follows: March 22, Friday, Wakefield Community at First Congregational Church, 1-7 p.m.; March 27, Wednesday, Stoneham Community at Town Hall, 1-7 p.m.; April 4, Thursday, Winchester High School, 8 a.m.-2 p.m.

Volunteers are needed in several capacities at the Bloodmobiles as well as in other Red Cross services. Days and hours are flexible. Please call Janice Wilson, Director of Volunteers, 665-1351 for more information.

HEART SAVER

The Lahey Clinic will offer a three-hour course on "Heart Saver" techniques of emergency cardiac care, on Thursday, March 28.

Presented as a public service and open to any interested person, the "Heart Saver" course provides information on such areas as the signs of heart attack, basic emergency cardiac procedures, risk factors that can lead to heart disease, one-person CPR for adults, and how to aid a choking person.

The session is scheduled from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the Lahey Clinic Medical Center's Alumni Auditorium.

Interested persons are asked to register by March 25 by calling 273-8733. A $4 fee will be charged to cover the cost of materials.

The Lahey Clinic Medical Center is located on Mall Road in Burlington, adjacent to the Burlington Mall and the New England Executive Park.

SUBURBAN SINGLES

ALZHEIMERS SUPPORT GROUP

The next meeting of the North Shore Alzheimers Disease and Other Related Disorders Family Support Group will be held on March 21 from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. at the Greenview Manor Nursing Home, Bathol St., Wakefield. The guest speaker will be discussing Medicaid.

PLANT AND NATURE LOVERS

Beginning on April 12, the Arnold Arboretum in Jamaica Plain will sponsor over 60 spring/summer courses, tours and special programs.

From the Botany of China-town to morning birdwalks, there is something to excite every nature lover at the Arboretum this spring and summer! For detailed information about individual offerings, fees, and times, call the Arboretum during the week for a free program brochure and registration information. Call 524-1718 or write the Arnold Arboretum, The Arborway, Jamaica Plain, Ma. 02130.

ARTHRITIS SELF HELP

An Arthritis Self Help Course will be offered at Malden Hospital in cooperation with the Arthritis Foundation, Massachusetts Chapter, starting April 10. These courses are open to anyone with arthritis and will provide information about arthritis, how best to use arthritis medication, how to design an appropriate exercise program, dealing with emotional and physical problems caused by arthritis and working more closely with your physician.

This course will be held in the afternoon, 1:30-3:30 at the hospital. Classes meet weekly for six weeks.

Terry Adams and Barbara Schlitzer will lead the class. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Schlitzer have both had the very specific self help training required by the Arthritis Foundation to lead this course and have recently led a course in Framingham.

Pre-registration is necessary and enrollment is limited. For information and applications for the Arthritis Self Help Course, call Susan Brown, 322-7560, ext. 5259.

A free, voluntary, fingerprinting clinic will be held Saturday March 23, 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. at the Doherty Junior High Cafeteria, Bartlett St., Andover. Sponsored annually by The Mother Connection, the clinic fingerprinted over 1,000 children last year.

The purpose of the fingerprinting is to help identify a child who has run away, been abducted or is lost. The only copy of the child's fingerprints is kept by the parents. Families who participate in the clinic can also develop an awareness of personal safety and some ideas for discussing how to react if placed in a threatening situation. People who wish to assist at the clinic, or have any questions should call The Mother Connection Family Resource Center at 470-1500.

On Passion Sunday, March 24th, 3:00 P.M. at the First Congregational Church in Stoneham The Eminent Baritone Ernest Triplett will deliver his Sermon in Song as he sings "The Life of Christ" as arranged by the late Roland Hayes. Besides being the baritone soloist at the First Church in Stoneham, Mr. Triplett has a track record of excellence for his outstanding appearances in concert and opera throughout New England and the United States. "A singer with a remarkable stage presence; he has the ability to carry an audience with him through anything from a spiritual to a demanding operatic scene." Roland Hayes himself once said: "that Ernest Triplett has all the gifts needed to make him a great singer."

Each fourth of July, for the past fifteen years, Ernest Triplett has "displayed his ability (at Faneuil Hall Boston) to deliver the Star-Spangled Banner and the Battle Hymn of the Republic," with "a vocal quality capable of uplifting an audience and transfixing it with the passion of his rendition.

Joan Reddy will assist Mr. Triplett at the piano and in addition Ernest Triplett will perform the "Stabat Mater" (a solo cantata for baritone) accompanied by the highly acclaimed Copley String Quartet.

Tickets for this performance may be purchased at the door prior to performance time. $6.00 for adults and $4.00 for students and senior citizens. Additional information may be obtained by calling 964-5927.

Easter Bunny to make guest appearance at Cranberry World. Easter Bunny visits Cranberry World, Water Street, Plymouth, Ma., Saturday, April 6 from 10 A.M. to noon and 2 P.M. to 4 P.M. Free admission.

Cape Ann puppeteers perform at Cranberry World. Classic children's fairy tales and fables such as "Peter Rabbit," "Billy Goats Gruff," "The Tortoise and the Hare," "The Lion and the Mouse," and other stories will be performed by Patricia and Eleanor Boylan. There will be two performances daily at 10:30 A.M. and 2:30 P.M., Saturday, April 13 through Friday, April 19. Cranberry World, Water Street, Plymouth, Ma. Free admission.

Discover why world-renowned artist Robert Motherwell said, "In accomplishments, in ambience, the School of the Museum of Fine Arts is as fine and institution as I have seen anywhere in the western world," when its studios are opened to the public on Sunday, March 24 from 12:30 - 3:30 p.m. The invitation to visit the Museum School will give all the opportunity to see artists at work, and be introduced to the School's facilities and progressive curriculum. The Museum School is located at 230 The Fenway.

The day's highlights include demonstrations by Museum School faculty and students of their crafts including drawing and painting, sculpture, printmaking, metalsmithing, ceramics, film and animation, photography, video and electronic arts. Of particular interest will be an information center devised to inform students, parents, teachers and guidance counselors of continuing education programs, art career opportunities and ways of meeting college costs.

The School of the Museum of Fine Arts was founded in 1876. Today, more than 600 students from across the United States and abroad study at the School. In addition to the Museum School's own diploma program, it is affiliated with Tufts University whereby students can earn a BFA, MFA, Bachelor of Science Education degree or a combined five-year BFA/BA or BS program.

The St. Francis Institute will conduct the last of a series, for this spring, of programs at St. Francis Seminary focusing on "Franciscana," the aura of cherished Franciscanism. The program will begin with the Easter Vigil Service. Then, on Easter Monday, April 8, from 7:30 to 8:30 P.M. a series of eight mini-retreats will start. Donation is $5.00 for each Mini-treat. The Franciscana series of courses start on Tuesday, April 9. The emphasis will be on the spirit of Franciscanism and its charism, the first of its kind offered in the Merrimack Valley. The courses are: "The Life, Person, and Spirituality of St. Francis" meeting eight Tuesdays from 7:30 to 8:30 P.M. starting April 9; "The Theology of St. Bonaventure, Cardinal of the Church and Minister General of the Order" and "The Philosophy of Doctor Duns Scotus, Summary of the Franciscan Order" which will meet for eight Wednesdays from 7:30 to 8:30 P.M. starting April 10; "The History of the Franciscan Order" which will meet for eight Thursdays from 7:30 to 8:30 P.M. starting April 11 and ending May 30. The cost per single class is $3.00; for four classes, $10.00; for eight classes, $20.00.

This Franciscana series of distinctive vintage should prove to be both exciting and personally rewarding. To reserve a place, pre-register as soon as possible before Easter. Call 851-7910 or register by mail by writing to The Saint Francis Institute, P.O. Box 263, Andover, Mass. 01810.

Professional choreographers Clara "CB" Hetherington and Pamela J. Raff will lead a two-day workshop in choreography for the musical stage on Saturday, March 23 and 30, at the Whitefield School, 342 Middlesex Avenue, Wilmington. Sponsored by the Silver Lake Spotlighters, this unique seminar/laboratory is open to experienced choreographers and advanced level dancers only.

Workshop participants will have an opportunity to refine and polish technique, to explore new concepts and examine problems in creating dance for musical theatre, and to share resources, experiences, and skills.

Curriculum topics in this advanced level workshop include: teaching the flavor/feeling of dance; interpreting music; capitalizing on each actor/dancer's on-stage potential; utilizing space for optimum effect; working with, and within, a director's concept; visualizing movement; and researching period dance for the stage.

Workshop leader Clara "CB" etherington and Pamela J. aff are jazz tap dancers, teachers and choreographers who currently perform with Leon Collins and Company and the Rhythm Review. Their choreography credits include productions for the New Ehrlich theatre, Boston Conservatory, Triangle Theatre, Publick theatre, Mobius Theatre, Barton Square Playhouse, North and Union Theatre Company, and Loeb Drama Center.

Tuition for the two-day workshop is $75 and enrollment is limited. Choreographers and dancers interested in registering for the workshop are urged to contact Kelley J. O'Leary, AS business manager, 17 Silk Street, Arlington, Ma. 02174 (646-47), immediately.

The Professional Council will host a dinner meeting on Wednesday, March 6, featuring Dr. Perry Turkle, author of "The Second Self: Computers and the Human Spirit," as guest speaker.

The meeting will be held in Boston University's George Herman Union Building at 775 Commonwealth Avenue in Boston. Dr. Turkle's talk will begin at 8:00 p.m., preceded by a cocktail hour at 6:00 p.m. and dinner at 6:45 p.m. The cost is $15.00 for members and $20.00 for non-members.

For information and reservations, call Susan Rousselle at 466-2498.

The Professional Council is a nonprofit organization for women in high tech.

The Lexington Chapter of Women's Aglow Fellowship, a worldwide interdenominational organization of renewed Christian women will hold their monthly meeting on Friday, March 8 at 9:30 A.M., at the Elks Lodge, 959 Waltham Street, Lexington. Speaker will be Marge Lund, Aglow area board vice-president; topic is "Jesus and His Love." For further information call Charlotte 933-6512 or Joan 444-6619. Free admission. Nursery provided.

The Treble Chorus of New England announces its exciting spring "pops" concert "Pan of Penzance" to be presented Saturday, March 24 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, March 25 at 3:00 matinee at the Pike School in Andover. This original musical with book by Marie Stultz is a clever takeoff on "Pirates of Penzance" and the well-loved "Peter Pan."

The Treble Chorus under the direction of Marie Stultz is in its sixth year offering classical choral music performed by young people for the Greater Merrimack Valley Community. Recent concerts include Christmas performances at Cochran Chapel, Phillips Academy, Hammond Castle, Gloucester, concerts in Andover, Reading, Winchester and North Andover and the contemporary opera "Icarus" with the Boston Musica Viva at M.I.T. In December 1984 the Treble Chorus was invited to perform at the State House for the traditional Christmas Tree Lighting.

The March performances of Pan of Penance" involve the Treble Chorus young people the Gilbert and Sullivan genre "Damsels in Distress," "The Salient Navy," "Bobbies" and, of course, "Pirates!" The entire pastoral community of Penance threatened by attacking pirates as the musical opens! Interspersed are light madrigals and Gilbert and Sullivan favorites.

For these two benefit performances there will be door prizes and complimentary food. In addition, beer and wine may be purchased on Saturday evening. The Sunday matinee will include a raffle drawing for a 13 inch colorable color tv, $50 bond and a dinner at Dunfee's in Lexington. Tickets are $8 for adults and $5 for children. For reservations and tickets please call Pat Cain at 357-1 in North Andover. Proceeds from the performances will go to the operating expenses of this non-profit children's chorus.

TooLoose TaDance, the Ball's MC will host the evening's festivities and present prizes donated by Boston's business and cultural communities. Prizes will include such items as dinner for two followed by tickets to a local theatre, dance or musical production.

The Artists' Ball has become an expected Spring tradition. It is a very special costume party where artists and patrons celebrate together Boston's cultural and artistic communities. The Ball is an opportunity for fellow artists to rub elbows and applaud each other for their contribution to the city of Boston.

In addition, the Ball is a benefit for The Artists Foundation's endowed Artist Emergency Loan Fund. This fund will provide low interest loans to needy artists in Massachusetts. The importance for such a fund became apparent when, in 1975, a fire struck a Jamaica Plain art center destroying the materials and work in 80 artist studios.

Tickets are $10.00 in advance and $12.50 at the door, available at: Out of Town Tickets, Harvard Square; Bostic, Faneuil Hall; Goods at Newbury Street and Faneuil Hall; Bostonian Market, Union Park, South End; and all Strawberries Records and Kennedy Studios locations.

For more information call
Judith Leyburn at 227-2443.

The Artists Group, Inc. of the Boston Center for the Arts is now planning the ninth annual Artists' Ball scheduled for Saturday, March 30, 8:00 p.m.-1:00 a.m. at the Boston Center for the Arts Cyclorama Building.

This year's masquerade will be a Broadway-themed extravaganza complete with murals and decorations designed by the resident artists, dance band known as "Girls Night Out," cabaret show "Starting Here, Starting Now," DJ, and cash bar.

The Ball is based on the Beaux Arts tradition of 19th Century Paris when students of the Ecole des Beaux Arts hosted a Spring Masquerade. As in Paris, artists and art patrons of the city of Boston may show off their creative talents and come draped in costume creation. Previous balls have seen such outfits as Lady Godiva, 52 people impersonating a deck of cards and a bunch of asparagus (complete with chef).

WITH A HANDSHAKE and a smile, former JayPlus Federal Credit Union President Steve Gilman of Woburn (left) and Metropolitan Credit Union's Frank L. DeAngelis of Methuen conclude the negotiations to incorporate approximately 3,000 members of the Massachusetts Jaycees' JayPlus Federal Credit Union with the rapidly growing membership of the Chelsea-based Metropolitan Credit Union.

CHELSEA — Metropolitan Credit Union announces the recent consolidation of the JayPlus Federal Credit Union of Newton with Metropolitan Credit Union's Chelsea-based operation.

JayPlus formerly served the nearly 3,000 Massachusetts Jaycees membership who automatically become part of Metropolitan Credit Union, the fifth largest state-chartered credit union in Massachusetts.

Former JayPlus Federal Credit Union President Steve Gilman expressed gratitude to the present and past board members of JayPlus for their outstanding service during the past nine years, but added that the consolidation with Metropolitan Credit Union was a decision which would result in better service for the Massachusetts Jaycees membership. Consolidation with Metropolitan Credit Union also means added convenience for the JayPlus members who may now conduct their banking business at any of Metropolitan's four convenient locations in Chelsea, Winthrop, Lawrence and Burlington.

The nearly 3,000 JayPlus members can now take advantage of the multi-services offered by Metropolitan Credit Union. Having recently reached $108 million in assets and growing daily, Metropolitan Credit Union is consistently keeping in step with the latest in banking technology to bring to its members maximum convenience and savings in completing all of their financial needs.

Despite its enormous growth, Metropolitan Credit Union still maintains its policy of treating each of its members as an individual. This, along with Metropolitan Credit Union's high dividends on all savings and certificates, low interest rates on a full array of "no-hassle" loans, and a wide range of free services has been instrumental in adding to Metropolitan Credit Union's ever-growing list of over 85,000 satisfied members.

Boston by-foot seeks volunteer guides

A special type of volunteer is being sought in Boston — someone with sturdy legs and a love of the city's architecture. Boston-by-Foot, a nonprofit corporation, was established in 1976 to promote public awareness of Boston's rich architectural heritage. Over the past eight seasons, trained Boston-by-Foot volunteer guides have explored the city with over 30,000 visitors and residents.

The training program, taught by distinguished professionals, traces the city's development through slide lectures and field trips. The dates, topics, lecturers, and their professional affiliations are listed as follows:

April 13, "The Colonial City," Gerald Bernstein, Brandeis University; April 20, "The Contemporary City," Earl Flansburgh, Earl Flansburgh & Assoc.; April 27, "The Victorian City," Gerald Bernstein, Brandeis University; May 4, "The Federal City," Robert St. George, Boston University; May 8, "The Elements of Architecture," Margaret Floyd, Tufts University; May 18, "Demonstration Tours."

All lectures meet at the Boston Architectural Center, 320 Newbury St., Boston. Saturday sessions from 10:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.; Wednesday session from 7:00 - 9:00 p.m. Tuition: $55.00 for future guides, $85.00 for auditors who do not wish to conduct tours. Preregistration necessary. For further information contact Boston-by-Foot, 77 North Washington St., Boston, Ma. 02114. Telephone 367-2345.

Fitness courses at NEMH

Pant-Pant, Puff-Puff, NEMH Knows It's Tough.

The battle to get in shape is difficult enough without the discouragement of working out next to someone who's already won the war between the weights. For that reason, New England Memorial Hospital's Health Education department offers several kinds of fitness programs.

"We have programs for adults who are completely out of shape, programs for kids and for the young and healthy," says Health Education Director Randy Jewell. "With the quality of health professionals who conduct our programs, we can take almost anyone, evaluate them, individually and get them started in a safe and sensible exercise program."

Most of the fitness programs at NEMH begin the week of April 8. The Aerobic Dance and Exercise course is the most strenuous, while Exercise for Health is the least strenuous.

Beginner's Jogging is an eight-week course that will help start you running right. A small fee is charged for each program.

NEMH also offers a specially designed fitness evaluation which includes a step test, lab work and a computerized lifestyle analysis which are recommended for anyone wishing to begin an exercise program.

Also this spring, keep your eyes open for the "new and improved" Health Fair in the Stoneham Town Hall, scheduled for Thursday, May 9. This year's theme is "Fitness for Everyone."

"It's our written goal," says Jewell, "to help everyone in this community reach their highest level of health so they can achieve their potential and get more out of life."

Anyone interested in receiving more information about the Health Education programs should call 665-1740, extension 426.

grams. The 1985 program will be held from the 22nd of March through April 17th.

The Festival, held annually since 1947 by Historic Charleston, South Carolina Foundation, concentrates on privately owned sites in the "Old and Historic District" which traces its origin to the 1680's when English and French settlers established a "walled City" known as Charles Towne at the confluence of the Cooper and Ashley rivers. Charleston is famous for its 18th and 19th century dwellings and gardens which are particularly beautiful in the peak blooming period which occurs in March and April of each year. Tours are held every day and evening during the month long festival. Afternoon tours visit eight to ten privately owned sites along Charleston's stately avenues and historic waterfront. Guides at each house provide interpretation.

Attendance on the tours is limited to the capacity of the private houses and cruise boats; therefore, guests are encouraged to make their reservations in advance. Complete tour schedules and ticket order forms are available by writing Historic Charleston Foundation, 52 Meeting St., Charleston, S.C. 29401. Tel. (803) 723-1623.

Antique show and sale

Just as spring comes to Wakefield every year, so does the Antiques Show and Sale at the First Parish Congregational Church — this year scheduled for Friday, March 29, 6-9:30 p.m., and Saturday, March 30, 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

This is the 14th Annual Antiques Show and those who have attended in the past will find that many of their favorite dealers have returned as well as some new and interesting displays, adding both variety and quality to the merchandise offered.

The usual diversification of merchandise will be found with choice articles in jewelry, country furniture, old books, oriental rugs, pewter, crystal, miniatures, coin and sterling silver.

The wome of the church will be in charge of the Snack Bar which will provide light refreshments and tasty home-baked goods.

In the spirit of our heritage, and with a renewed appreciation for some of the beautiful and valuable products of early America, the public is invited to attend the 14th Annual Antiques Show and Sale.

The church is located at the southern end of Lake Quannapowitt, near the center of town. Ample parking is available in the church parking lot and the admission charge is nominal.

Life begins at 60! Join an elderhostel

Elderhostel — ten years old and growing stronger. For those age 60 and older the 1985 Summer Catalogue is now available.

Elderhostel is an international network of short-term, residential academic programs. All people age 60 and older are eligible. There are no tests, grades or homework in Elderhostel courses.

Massachusetts Elderhostel programs are being offered at 33 campuses throughout the State, from June through September. Whether the great outdoors of "Ecology of Inter-tidal Life" at Thompson Island Education Center appeals to you, or you are more attracted to the intellectual challenge of a course like "The Supreme Court in Action" at Regis College, Elderhostel offers something for everyone.

Summer programs in Massachusetts begin on Sunday afternoons and end on the following Saturday morning. Elderhostelers live in campus residence halls and dine in campus cafeterias. In addition to the joy of learning, hostellers find that meeting new people and sharing quarters for the week are great topics for the spirit.

The uniform cost for 1985 summer programs is $195 per person. This package price includes all lodging, meals, courses and social activities for the week. Financial assistance is available for those who might otherwise be unable to attend.

To receive the full catalogue of Elderhostel programs nationwide, write Elderhostel Summer Catalogue, 15 Garrison Ave., Durham, N.H. 03824. Catalogues are immediately available for review at your local public library as well.

Participants sought for Weight Loss Study

Researchers—at the New England Deaconess and Brigham and Women's Hospitals—are currently seeking candidates for a study investigating the effects of weight loss on blood pressure.

Funded by a federal research grant, the study will be supervised by George Blackburn, M.D., Ph.D. The study will be conducted at outpatient clinics throughout the Boston area run by Nutritional Management, Inc., which specializes in the treatment of high-risk obesity.

This is a unique opportunity to take part in a comprehensive weight reduction program for a minimal fee.

Candidates should have high blood pressure and be overweight. If you think you qualify, please call the enrollment coordinator at (617) 732-8542 or write: Nutritional Support Service, New England Deaconess Hospital, 194 Pilgrim Road, Boston, Ma. 02215.

A child is waiting

March is Adolescent Foster Parent Recruitment Month.

Teenagers need Foster Parents too:

Michelle, 15 years old has been a runaway and truant for two years. Her mother agrees that they cannot live together anymore. Michelle needs a family that can provide some understanding and guidance.

Listen to what some of them have to say:

"I want to be somewhere where I can make mistakes and people will still like me."

"We fight all the time, I can't live there anymore."

"When my mother threw me out I thought it was the end of the world. Now my worker cannot find a foster home and I feel like a freak. I mean I know other kids who went to foster homes."

We know you can help...Foster parents help our teenagers cope with some of life's hardest experiences-like being without parents, or having parents who cannot care for them.

If you like teenagers and would enjoy working with them, we need your special skills.

To learn more call the Lowell Area Office 452-8970. Informational Meetings are held weekly.

Colman's Sporting Goods to Become MVP Sports!

Colman's Sporting Goods of Woburn and Danvers, a former government surplus store turned sporting goods retailer, will be saying goodbye to the trade name Colman's Sporting Goods, according to Dick

Landry, President and CEO of Salem Army & Navy Store, Inc., the parent company of Colman's Sporting Goods of Woburn and Danvers. As of June 1, 1985, Colman's Sporting Goods of Woburn and Danvers will conduct business under the new banner, MVP Sports Stores. "This change is necessary to provide us with a vehicle for future growth and to more accurately reflect the type of stores we operate," explained Mr. Landry.

Since 1983 Colman's stores have been buying through membership in the largest sports buying cooperative in the country; this buying power has enabled Colmans to compete with the large national chains and catalog houses, and to offer customers brand name products at very competitive prices.

MVP Sports Stores will carry on Colman's reputation as a neighborhood store and will continue to provide customers with outstanding services and a wide selection of quality recreational and leisure products at great savings.

The MVP Sports Stores operation is fully computerized; the executive offices will be located in Colman's Woburn location. Future plans for MVP Sports Stores include additional stores in the greater Boston area, a major regional warehouse outlet, and the possibility of franchising in other parts of the country.

MOVIE REVIEWS

'Missing in Action II' 'Night Patrol'

Missing in Action 2, The Beginning. Starring Chuck Norris, Soon-Teck Oh. Directed by Lance Hool. Produced by Menahem Golan, Yoram Globus. Written by Arthur Silver, Larry Levinson, Steve Bing. Rated R (extreme violence, profanity, brief nudity).

It makes one wonder what makes people spend a sunny afternoon watching Grade Z, violent pictures that contain scenes of such poor quality that could have been made by college students with eight millimeter film.

It's not as if Missing in Action were even a fun kind of bad film, like old Bela Lugosi flicks that you could laugh at. A Missing in Action type of film is usually nothing but undiluted violence for hard core war junkies who must be living the excitement of jungle warfare vicariously, judging by the cheers that surrounded me during the first showing of the film.

The plot is pretty basic. Chuck Norris has been held captive by a crazed, diminutive megalomaniac (Soon-Teck Oh) in Viet Nam for 10 years. Of course, he is strong and appears well-fed, in spite of the constant torture he has endured in the name of patriotism. His fellow captives, however, appear the worse for wear, which only makes Norris more ridiculous.

During the prison camp scenes and throughout subsequent escapes and attempted escapes, the audience is treated to an orgy of blood. Death and destruction arrive via flame throwers, impalements, a rat attack, hanging, poison and gasoline and matches. All this aside from bodies flung from cliffs, bombs, grenades and bullets.

Norris also manages several tricks without benefit of explanation, such as wiring the entire camp with bombs, donning new clothes and getting his beard trimmed. True, this is the movies, and not real life, so anything can happen. However, director Lance Hool should have gone for realism or fantasy, not both.

Unfortunately, it is getting to the point where a film produced by Menahem Golan and Yoram Globus is indicative of trash. These two men produce sheer junk that has limited commercial appeal, make big bucks fast and die hard. So, a word to the wise is to read the credits before paying for your tickets. And, if you find their names, think twice.

Night Patrol Starring Linda Blair, Pat Paulson, Jaye P. Morgan, Jack Riley, Billy Barty, Murray Langston. Directed by Jackie Kong. Produced by Bill Osco. Screenplay by Langston, Kong, Osco, Bill Levey. Rated R (profanity, nudity).

Poor taste, unfunny jokes and bad acting abound in the latest travesty released from New World Pictures, Night Patrol.

Trying desperately to be a clone of Police Academy, this waste of film is nothing but an embarrassment to the makers, and the audience. Lesbians, transvestites, blacks and gays are the butt of many a bad joke, a fact which will rankle those of us hoping to see the end of such bigotry in cinema. However, aside from the fact that the humor is unkind, it simply doesn't work, even on the most basic level. As a matter of fact, no one in the audience laughed once during the entire movie.

The less-than-sophisticated plot begins with Murray Langston as a bumbling rookie who is the straight guy to several bodily function jokes, most of which are not fit to print. Linda "Chipmunk Cheeks" Blair, who it seems has been banished forever to that wasteland known as the Grade B movies, is her usual wide-eyed self. She plays Sue Perman, a young cop in love with Langston, who is actually the Unknown Comic. Somewhere in between the disgusting beginning and the love interest, we learn that Langston works at night as a comedian, but because he doesn't want to get caught moonlighting, he wears a bag over his head. (Too bad someone didn't put a bag over the camera that filmed this rot).

The storyline also involves a robber who dons a paper bag and a psychiatrist who is best known for his appearances on the Bob Newhart Show (Jack Riley). What the storyline doesn't contain is coherency or intelligence. The jokes that perhaps could have worked don't because the cast is sleep-walking and the editing is confusing.

What is perhaps the saddest aspect of this film is to see Pat Morita as a transvestite rape victim. This is a man who is a current Academy Award nominee for best supporting actor for his role in The Karate Kid. Then there is Pat Paulson, an old-time comedian, who has a starring role, and Billy Barty, a diminutive actor who has the unfortunate role as a police chief with constant flatulence. Although none of these men are stupendous talents, it is still a shame to see them in a movie of such low caliber.

Crude and vulgar, Night Patrol has not one redeeming feature. Hopefully, however, no one will attend and it will disappear from movie theaters immediately.

Nutrition Hotline spreads the good word

Confused about vitamins or how to get your children to eat right?

Wonder where to get the calcium you need if you don't drink milk?

Trying to cut down on fat, cholesterol, and sodium for your heart's health?

Want to lose weight, but don't know how?

March is National Nutrition Month and the Massachusetts Nutrition Hotline is ready to help you March into Health this month and all year-round with answers to your nutrition questions. Now, people throughout the state can get free nutrition information by calling the newly expanded, toll-free Nutrition Hotline at 1-800-322-7203, Mondays through Fridays, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., or writing the Massachusetts Nutrition Resource Center at 150 Tremont Street, Boston, Ma. 02111. Mail requests are promptly answered.

The Nutrition Hotline and Resource Center is staffed by professional nutritionists - trained as Registered Dietitians (R.D.'s) with Master's Degrees in Nutrition - who are on call to provide consumers and health care professionals with prompt, accurate, up-to-date answers to questions about food, nutrition, and health. While they can't prescribe therapeutic diets, they can assist with dietary changes recommended by health care providers. They can also refer callers to local nutrition services and resources in their area.

In addition, MNRC nutritionists will send consumers a wide variety of free nutrition materials. More than 50 nutrition fact sheets, as well as information packets on such topics as "How To Lose Weight," "Reducing Your Risk of Cancer through Diet," "Diet for a Healthy Heart," "Nutrient Needs of Senior Citizens," "Nutrition for Young Children," and "Building a Better Diet" are free upon request.

The Nutrition Hotline is a service of the Massachusetts Nutrition Resource Center (MNRC). Funded by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health's Center for Health Promotion and Environmental Disease Prevention

So - Celebrate National Nutrition Month this March and all year-round. Call the Nutrition Hotline toll-free at 1-800-322-7203 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. or write the Massachusetts Nutrition Resource Center, 150 Tremont Street, Boston, Ma. 02111 - and discover what MNRC can do for you.

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

I have written many, "Chips," some interesting, others amazing and a few that are darn right unbelievable. They only serve to prove the adage, "truth is stranger than fiction." In the late 40's my friend Joe Russo's furnace conked out. He asked my neighbor, the late Bill Matthews, (a stationary engineer) to go with him to a plumbing and heating supply company on Portland St. in Boston. Bill was to advise Joe on the best brand and size to buy. They certainly made quite a contrast — Bill always dressed in a suit with white shirt and tie and Joe Russo in everyday work clothes. The salesman immediately gave all his attention to Bill completely ignoring Joe. After answering all of Bill's questions for almost an hour the salesman asked Bill if he had decided on which furnace to buy. "The furnace is for this gentleman here," said Bill. "I'm only here to advise." The salesman did a 180 degree turn and said to Joe Russo, "which one do you want to buy sir?" Joe looked at him straight in the eye and shouted, "Mister, I wouldn't buy a furnace from you if you 'GAVE' it to me for nothing!!!" Folks, the lesson is obvious — it's one every salesman who is worth his salt knows, "don't ever ignore anyone even if the person looks in need of the Salvation Army."

Sometimes they are the ones who can buy a piano, car or even a furnace and pay "cash" for it. My wife Kathy has a subtle way of telling me that I am getting fat. She said to me today, "Woodchipper do you mind shutting off that darn TV and 'waddling' over here and help me hang curtains?" She should talk. She got on the drug store scale yesterday and a light flashed on saying, "one person at a time please." I'll admit that she is a "Light Eater" — as soon as it gets light every morning she starts to eat. She's on a "Limbberger cheese and garlic bread" diet. No one can get near her. From a distance she looks thinner. I think our marriage is breaking up. I asked her today, "Kathy what must I give you for a little kiss?" She gave me a one word answer, "chloroform!!!"

The modern bathtub was invented in 1840 and the telephone in 1876. That means that there were 36 years when you could take a bath without the phone ringing!

Babe Ruth struck out 1330 times in his career, a record in futility unapproached by any other player in the history of baseball. But that wasn't what the great Bambino was famous for. It was his ability to overcome the humiliation of two strikeouts in a row then get up to the plate with the bases loaded and with one mighty swing of the bat send the ball sailing like a rocket over the fence and out of the park, clearing the bases and many times winning the game.

Another failure, Thomas A. Edison was told by his assistant when the 4000th experiment for a workable filament burned up. "Oh no," responded Edison, "it's another success for I found something else that doesn't work." Folks it isn't the failures that count but what you do to overcome them.

One of the reasons for Woodchips is to remind us to take time to "Laugh." It is the music of the soul. What this country needs is "dirtier fingernails," "cleaner minds," and "smiling faces." Doing business without advertising is like "winking at a girl in the dark — you know what you're doing but nobody else does". We have more complainers than doers. Folks, "thunder is impressive but it's 'lightning' that does the work".

I congratulate the clergy and parishioners of the Lady of the Assumption Church in Lynnfield for their beautiful church. I attended the Mass for my dear friend of many years, Dr. Peter Fanikos of Lynnfield. He was a modern day Francis of Assisi, treating rich or poor alike with compassion, charity and respect. The capacity filled church gave visible testimony of the love and affection for this genial Man of Medicine. It is a humble house of prayer — I truly love it so. Those who came to worship there came from high and low. No pictured casement rich and rare with polished crimson stain. No plush carpet in the aisles were there inside or out was plain. No marble pillars are needed to answer our Lord's call. For the Prince of Peace has pleaded, "Come, I love you all."

I'll bet many will find it hard to believe this chip, but it's true. Lynda Fath whose grandparents Dorothy and Russell Brundage were from Stoneham, is a remarkable young lady. She is a senior at Holy Cross College and was the manager of the Crusaders football team in her junior and senior years. She was an active participant in the campus theater since her freshman year. Lynda played the lead role in "Pajama Game." and was also in the "Tempest"

ME-HOSPITAL COMPUTER SAVES LIVES, CUTS COSTS

In 1985, many heart patients at New England Memorial Hospital will receive better, less costly care, thanks to a new cardiac imaging computer recently purchased with donations. This state-of-the-art device provides early detection and treatment of heart disease, reduces patient waiting time, and eliminates many expensive heart catheterizations.

The computer is expected to reduce the bills of some patients by about $1200 because it will perform heart studies that previously required heart catheterization. Heart catheterization is the insertion of a fiberoptic tube through a blood vessel and into the patient's heart.

"I am very pleased that the hospital has purchased this computer, and I thank each of the 1500 contributors whose generosity made this possible," Wolfgang von Maack, president of New England Memorial Hospital, announced recently.

and "Two Gentlemen from Verona." I predict a great future for this beautiful young lady.

Frank Massoni of Wilmington told me that I should be on the stage, "the first one out of town." I've never been on the stage but I've had my leg in the "cast" once.

I am proud of the Murphy sisters from North Reading, Shelly in graphic arts, Ann a biologist and Linda in health physics. While on the subject of beautiful ladies, here are more Miss America contenders. Mary Jane Seaberg of Stoneham, Gayle MacEachern of Woburn, Donna Bryan of Winchester, Michele Nottbart of Stoneham, Margielyn Stratton of North Reading and Nicole Higden of Burlington.

The local fence company must be on strike. I saw pickets all around the place this morning.

My wife Kathy was telling my Aunt Maria, "I have this problem, sometimes I go to the refrigerator and I can't remember whether I'm taking something 'out,' or putting something 'in.'" Aunt Maria said, "I don't have any problems." Then she knocked on wood and said, "Kathy, I think there's someone at the door."

Reading Walk-in medical facility undergoes renovations

READING — The HealthFirst walk-in health care facility at 102 Main St., opposite Wayside Bazaar, recently signed staffing agreements with Beth Israel and Brigham and Women's Hospitals.

The agreements come at a time when the HealthFirst facility is undergoing major interior renovations and upgrading. Present staffing will not be immediately affected by the agreements.

HealthFirst has served the Reading community since 1981 when it opened as the Physicians Medical Emergency Center. It is designed to treat minor medical and surgical problems, and is open 365 days a year, from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

HealthFirst is a growing chain of "urgent care" centers with facilities in Reading, Salem and Sudbury. Others will be opening soon in Andover, Acton, Medway, Taunton and Boston.

"The concept is really very simple," says Dr. Richard Franklin, the founder of the company. "There are many types of medical problems which are relatively minor in nature, such as small lacerations, sprains, or sore throats. Often, the only place to get these treated is a hospital emergency room. This is time consuming, expensive, and sometimes frightening."

The HealthFirst concept has proved to be popular with both large and small companies. "It is natural that corporations which bear the cost of employee health care would be attracted to HealthFirst," says Franklin. "Both corporate clients and their employees appreciate the prompt treatment and the pleasant environment." In addition, HealthFirst has become popular with both schools and municipal organizations.

HealthFirst has developed a philosophy which, according to Franklin, makes it unique in this new industry.

"Many people are talking about a revolution in health care," he says, "I think this is foolish. We have the best health care in the world, all that is needed is some fine tuning. Make the care more responsive to the patient's total needs for service."

Unlike other walk-in centers, HealthFirst is not a family practice. It does not plan to replace the established physicians who are in practice but to work with them to develop a system.

"How's the Family" marriage - go - round

By Dr. Warren F. Schumacher
Assistant Professor
Cooperative Extension
Specialist
University of Massachusetts-
Amherst

Lots of Americans fall out of love with their mates, but most have not fallen out of love with marriage. The vast majority of our people marry at least once. Although young people are getting married at older ages (the average age for men is 25.2 years and 22.5 for women) and statistics indicate that today 56 percent of young people between ages 20 and 24 have never married, all indications are that eventually most will marry. Today, people who have reached their early fifties have "taken their shot at the marital state"; 90 percent have been married at least once.

Not only do Americans marry once, they keep trying even after the first or second marriage goes down the tube. Nine thousand men and women remarry every week in this country. Close to 75 percent of divorced women and 83 percent of divorced men remarry. And for most the turnaround time is quite short: 50 percent of all women who divorce while still relatively young remarry within three years and 60-70 percent remarry within five years. Today approximately 20 percent of all existing marriages include at least one previously divorced spouse.

This commitment to marriage holds a powerful message as well as a warning to all family members. Do lots of people just get caught in the flow towards a "coupled" way of living? Do social expectations condition us to automatically look to marriage as the only source of emotional satisfaction? Do we expect too much of marriage?

Unrealistic expectations place tremendous pressure on the relationship between wife and husband. If either, or both, anticipate that this union will fulfill all their dreams of sexual satisfaction and financial security, perfect communication and equality of sex roles, that it will provide a buffer from the cruel outside world and offer a life of constant peace and happiness, that's pie in the sky! The union of one man and one woman was never designed to fulfill all these dreams.

It's a tall order to expect your marriage to offset the chaos in the world surrounding you — unemployment and financial insecurity, violence and nuclear threat, rapid change and the erosion of moral absolutes. Try to take a realistic look at your own marriage and place it in the context of modern-day pressures. Before selling your own marriage short to yourself or your children, before giving up on it and joining the line on the way to the divorce lawyer, give serious consideration to the assets of the relationship as well as the liabilities.

Don't just "hang in there." Don't settle for a stagnant life of quiet desperation! If your wedding anniversary is coming up, ask your spouse to sit down with you and evaluate the relationship. Look at the ups and downs, the pros and the cons, the highs and the lows. Marriage takes two people to make it work. After the sparks of the honeymoon are gone, some of the magic ought to remain, the "magic" of commitment and love based in reality.

Parents are the models of what marriage can be. Don't try to put on a false make-up and costume of what marriage should be. It can be so many scenes, some pleasant others unpleasant; allow your children to experience both the bad and ugly aspects of daily pressure as well as the good aspects of satisfaction and happiness. Don't put on some facade of what it ought to be.

Before getting caught in the marriage-go-round, take a hard look at your marriage. Make sure that the high cost of divorce, financially, emotionally and socially, is worth paying. Look before you leap from one relationship to another. If you add up all the realistic assets of your current relationship and are willing to work at reducing the liabilities created by some of your unrealistic expectations of what marriage ought to be, perhaps the balance will no longer appear so heavily weighted on the negative side.

When dreams are seen in the reality of daily living, the daylight will provide the insight to set realistic goals for the marital relationship. If you are thinking about jumping out of the marriage, make sure that you don't act on impulse or blind anticipation. Base your decision on realistic evaluation.

Try to identify one simple goal that will improve your marital relationship, like talking with one another about what is important to each of you for an hour each week. Give yourselves two months to work at accomplishing the goal. If you just can't do it, then re-think whether it's worth holding on. Remember, breaking up is hard to do!

"How's the Family", sponsored by the Middlesex County Extension Service, is written by Dr. Warren F. Schumacher, Associate Professor, Cooperative Extension Specialist, University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

Fire emergency escape plan a must

Take a moment to consider the following fire-related questions:

Does your family have a carefully-designed fire emergency escape plan?

Has this plan been posted in accessible places, where family members can review the information at their leisure?

Does your family practice this plan every month?

If the answer to any of these questions is anything less than an unequivocal "yes," then steps must be taken immediately to bolster your family's defense against the dangers of fire, according to the Dictograph Security Information Bureau.

"It is essential that we utilize all of our weapons in this never-ending war on fire," said Bill Mabey, a former public safety official and currently the director of the Dictograph Security Information Bureau. The bureau is a division of Dictograph Security Systems of Florham Park, N.J., widely regarded as the world's foremost residential security specialist, with nearly one million burglar and fire alarm systems installed nationwide and overseas.

"Fire is a random killer, claiming nearly 5,000 lives in residential fires every year in this country," he added. "It can strike anywhere, at any time, and often without any warning signs at all. Many fires, especially those caused by electrical malfunctions, are spontaneous — they just happen."

Once a fire begins, it takes just five minutes for the superheated, poisoned air produced by fire to blanket a home completely.

"Remember," Mabey stressed, "that's five minutes from the time the fire begins ... not from the time it was first noticed, if at all."

For all these reasons, the nation's leading fire prevention experts and Dictograph recommend that every family devise, discuss and practice a fire emergency escape plan. Such a plan should be as comprehensive as possible, covering escape routes from every room in a home, specific escape procedures and, in particular, proper escape verification processes.

"Nothing at all should be left to chance or to split-second, crisis decision-making," Mabey said.

According to Dictograph, the first step in creating the plan is mapping out a precise sketch of every room and hallway, specifying primary and alternate escape routes out of every room.

"A primary escape route is generally the front door," Mabey explained, "while an alternate route might be a window that is equipped with a portable ladder."

The next step is explaining the escape procedure. If the smoke detectors or fire alarm system sound at night, family members should immediately roll out of bed and assume a crouch position, keeping their heads about two or three feet off the floor.

This is the so-called "safety zone," as superheated air rises to a point above this level and heavier-than-air poisoned gases tend to accumulate at a position six to 12 inches from the floor.

"At this point," Mabey said, "some determination should be made as to the escape route — primary or alternate. If the door to your bedroom is not hot to the touch, open it slowly and, remaining in a crouch position, make your way down the stairs and out the front or back door. If the door is hot, opt for an alternate escape route."

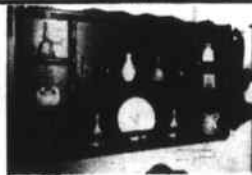

Once outside, it is important to establish a pre-arranged meeting place a safe distance away from your home where your family can gather for an accurate headcount. This location may be a neighbor's porch, a street light, a mailbox, etc.

"Only once everyone has been fully accounted for should a family member be sent to a neighbor's home or a fire box to summon the fire department," Mabey said.

THE LYNNFIELD Villager

Por Cristo

is certain that the interactions among teens and adults at Saint Agnes' youth community dispute the apparent premise of the movie, which opens with a world of philosophy and presumption in a quotation from rock superstar David Bowie:

"And these children you spit on, they are immune to your consultations."

Margaret Craven, author of "I Heard the Owl Call My Name," presents the issue more gently in her short story "Easy Street," where a successful, caring father comes in surprise upon his daughter, who is crying:

"Gerry was seventeen. Gerry was long, lithe loveliness, soft hair on her shoulders and absolute surety on her face. Gerry's was that air of youthful arrogance which made Mr. Hinsdale know he must be old, because it amused him, it irritated him and it filled him with a twinge of envy..."

"Why, she's scared," thought Mr. Hinsdale, with a kind of wonder. Here she was, a product of so much expense, so much love and thought...And here she was all bumped out in goose pimples. He could not believe it and he knew it to be true..."

"I had forgotten," he said slowly — "I had forgotten that horrible painful time when you don't like yourself."

The teens at Saint Agnes' youth prayer group do not seem immune to the consultations of adult leaders Bob Doolittle and Regina Merrill, a slender, empathic woman whom the teens all hug and call "Mum." Certainly the members of the youth community defy David Bowie's pronouncement, if one visit is any gauge.

Self-discovery and self-denial are two of the hoped-for features of the upcoming 24-hour-fast "Por Cristo," at Saint Agnes. One is a means to spiritual growth and the building of faith, according to Bob Doolittle; the other, to tangible help which may translate to life itself for the newborn in Ecuador.

"For all we know This may only be a dream We come and we go Like the ripples, ripples in the stream"

— Sam M. Lewis

Who is the stone, and who or what are the ripples? The Pope's visit, more than five years ago, was a stone — and its ripples are still being felt, in Reading, in Boston, in Ecuador.

"...I want to repeat what I keep telling youth: You are the future of the world, and the day of tomorrow belongs to you," Pope John Paul II, speaking at Boston Common, October, 1979.

If the commitment of the youth at Reading's Saint Agnes is any measure, the "day of tomorrow" to which His Holiness referred will assuredly have a fair dawning.

Century 21 Collins Realty, Inc. - Salutes its 1984 Award Winner - III -

$1 Million Award Winner Elaine Richardson is congratulated by Office Manager, Joe Crowley.

Elaine Richardson of Century 21 Collins Realty, Inc. was a recipient of the 1984 $1 Million Sales Award at the annual Gold Ball held at the Sheraton Boston.

This was a highly unusual achievement since Elaine joined the local firm partway through the year and reached this goal after only eight months activity.

In addition to her Real Estate work, Elaine serves as Vice-President of the Woburn High School Band Guild, an organization in which she has been active for the past 5 years.

A 14 year resident of Woburn, Elaine resides at 12 Morrow Drive with her husband Dave, a local heating and air conditioning contractor, and their three children, Dave Jr. 18, Deanna 14, and Jodi 13.

"Elaine is another excellent example of why Century 21 Collins Realty, Inc. continues to be Woburn's No. 1 Top Seller," commented Sales Manager, Joe Crowley, at the awards ceremony.

Will your house be marketed...or just shown?

Showing a house isn't the same as marketing it. Simply showing a house for sale is only a small part of the marketing job.

Carlson Real Estate brokers put together a winning home selling strategy, from pricing your home properly to advertising and displaying it effectively to closing the sale professionally. That's marketing.

Visit or call any one of Carlson Real Estate's 16 residential offices and receive a free Home Seller's Guide.

This 28-page booklet is a complete guide to home selling; full of hints, tips, hard facts and honest answers to tough questions. Read it... then you'll be ready to really market your home — with Carlson.

TIPS ON TRIPS

Your passage through Canada Customs will be that much easier if you know precisely what kind of weapon you can or can't take with you across the border. And it's far better for you to know about it BEFORE you reach Canada!

Weapons that can be easily hidden cannot be taken into Canada. But there are exceptions: handguns for bona fide marksmanship competitions. Please check with Canada Customs for further details.

newsworthy trends

A balanced federal budget by 1995?

It can be done, according to J. Peter Grace, chairman and chief executive officer of W.R. Grace & Co., who heads the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control.

Meanwhile, outlays for transfer payments, interest and defense spending continue to soar, estimated to reach 34 percent of the Gross National Product by 1990.

The Grace Commission report has issued 2,478 cost cutting suggestions that it said would result in a savings of at least $424.4 billion over three years.

"Deficits," Grace predicted, would grow from $195 billion in 1983 to nearly two trillion dollars by the year 2000 if the recommendations of the cost control survey are not heeded. If the recommendations are implemented," Grace stated, "the federal budget would be essentially balanced during the 1990s."

Illustrating some Federal government failures relative to the private sector, Mr. Grace declared:

- Housing and Urban Development makes only three attempts to collect delinquent loans versus 24 to 36 tries in the private sector and therefore, a high delinquency rate prevails.

- The U.S. Forest Service gave away $235 million worth of firewood in 1981.

- The Federal grazing program collected $15 million in grazing fees while providing $41 million in services.

- A Veterans Administration hospital in the Bronx cost $191,300 per bed, about double the $97,400 per bed spent constructing the comparable Duke University hospital.

- Half the government's computers are so old that manufacturers no longer service them. Additional personnel expenses amount to $1 billion over three years.

- Private sector inventory replenishment techniques could save the government $4.5 billion over three years.

- It costs the Army $4.20 to process a payroll check vs. a $1.00 average in the private sector.

- The Federal government does not negotiate volume discounts on its enormous freight charges.

- The General Services Administration employs 17 times as many people and spends almost 14 times as much on total management costs as a comparable private sector firm with similar responsibilities.

- Pension benefits for the Civil Service Retirement System are three times those in the private sector.

- Average use of Federal vehicles (excluding the Postal Service) is 9,000 miles per year, which is 64 percent less than the 25,000 miles per year that private rental firms consider to be effective use. Failure to recondition vehicles prior to resale, as is common in the private sector, lowers the government's resale revenues by $15.8 million over three years.

Many people concerned about America's economic future are writing to their legislators to suggest their congressmen implement the findings of the Grace Commission. They address the letters to the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510 and the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.
